No Kerr-Mills Decision; Substitute Bill Offered

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

In a surprise move, the State Department of Public Welfare Monday submitted to the Legislature's Public Health Committee a proposed substitute bill containing its recommended version of medical assistance for the aged.

The proposal was presented to the committee at a public hearing on two bills which would enroll the state in the Kerr-Mills federal medical assistance program.

LB100, introduced by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, received the blessings of the State Medical Assn., the Insurance Federation of Nebraska and associated groups.

Broadened Coverage

LB408, sponsored by Sen. Dale Erlewine, would broaden coverage to include services performed by all persons licensed in the healing arts.

Osteopaths, podiatrists, optometrists and chiropractors were all excluded from provisions of LB100.

The Department's proposed version would broaden the coverage to include all healing arts contained in LB408, but would tighten eligibility requirements spelled out in both bills.

The committee adjourned without taking action on any of the proposals. Chairman Sam Klaver of Omaha announced he will call an executive session to study the bills within the next day or two.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told The Star following the meeting that he will move to advance the Department's proposal to the floor, after first attempting to amend its coverage to include home nursing care.

Income Limits

As drawn, the bill would provide medical assistance for persons 65 and over whose annual income does not exceed $1,500 per person or $2,100 per couple, and whose "readily available resources" do not exceed $750 per person or $1,500 per couple.

A recipient would be allowed to own his home, furniture, clothing, tools and life insurance if its cash surrender value did not exceed $1,000.

Assistance would be provided for hospital care exceeding $50 in any 6-month period; nursing care not to exceed 3 days in any 6-month period whose cost exceeds $25; services by physicians, dentists, osteopaths, chiropractors, podiatrists and optometrists exceeding $25 in 6 months, and prescribed drugs and prosthetic appliances exceeding $25 in a 6-month period.

E. D. Warnsholz, legaconsultant for the Department, pegged the bill's price tag at $4 million for the biennium, with the state's share near $1.8 million.

'Most Liberal'

Eligibility provisions of LB100, he said, would "make Nebraska one of the most liberal states in the union as far as medical care is concerned."

Despite proponents' claims that LB100 would cost the state $1.2 million in a biennium, Warnsholz said, the Department believes its cost would total $1.8 million.

Erlewine told the committee he would be "willing to substitute the welfare bill for mine."

Bowen criticized the unusual procedure, suggesting that "the Department is here to administer, not to propose legislation. I should have been consulted."

LB100 attracted broad support from medical, nursing, hospital, pharmaceutical, dental and insurance organizations in addition to the Associated Industries of Nebraska, the State Chamber of Commerce and the Railroad Shop Crafts.

Jeopardy Feared

Bowen told the committee that addition of services other than those contained in LB100 would "jeopardize the bill."

Carpenter grilled State Medical Association President Dr. O. A. Kostal of Hastings for nearly 30 minutes, finally extracting this promise not to oppose the bill if it were amended to broaden coverage: "I don't want the bill killed in any manner."

Thirty-nine states have already adopted similar legislation, Dr. Kostal testified. In Nebraska, perhaps 4,920 people would be directly affected at an estimated cost of $250 per patient, he said.

Other healing arts were excluded, he said, to limit the bill's coverage to "needed services . . . major medical illness."

Opposition Voiced

Opposition was voiced by the Farmers Union and Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City.

Farmers Union President Elton Berk of Lincoln said his organization supports LB100 in principle, but "insists first on a means of support other than the property tax."

Reeves suggested that the state consider a program whereby it would subsidize premium payments for health insurance, instead of attempting "a job which can be better done by private insurance companies."

In supporting LB408, Erlewine argued that the alternative bill "fences certain people in so that they do all the work and get all the money."

In other action, the committee heard and held LB689, providing for appointment of county coroner's physician.

GRASSLAND 'ANTISTATE'

... Meat, Milk Production Lag

Moscow (P)—Premier Khrushchev denounced Monday as antistate practice the rotation of crops by grassplanting farmers in Byelorussia and the Baltic states.

Khrushchev's charge, one of the most serious in the Soviet lexicon, appeared in a letter published on Pravda's front page.

It indicated serious concern about the critical lag in meat and milk production that forced a sharp increase in retail prices of these commodities last summer. It also was apparent that farmers had been ignoring strict orders to quit rotating crops, as issued at a special party plenum on agriculture a year ago.

Stalin OK'd It

The grasslands system means that crops are rotated with cattle-fodder grass. Stalin approved this system, which meant it was rigid law throughout the Soviet Union, even in areas where it might not make sense.

Khrushchev now opposes the system, which probably means that use of the grasslands rotation will be abandoned, even in areas where that will not make sense.

Abandonment of clover, alfalfa and timothy grass in northern and humid regions could hurt the cattle industry, which Khrushchev is trying to build up, but he insists that corn and sugar beets be planted instead of those grasses, for use as cattle fodder.

Khrushchev bitterly complained that collective and state farms in the western territories had taken unfair advantage of the party's decision to relieve them of obligatory grain sales to the state.

Went To Grass

Instead of turning to raising meat and milk production as the party intended, the farmers quit planting grain and seeded part of their land to grass.

"The plenum of the central committee condemned such wasteful use of the land as antistate practice," Khrushchev wrote. "I mention this because similar mistakes will not be permitted in the future."

Khrushchev said the party had lifted grain levies in the western republics because the humid climate made grain raising in these areas unprofitable. This decision never was announced publicly. However, it appeared from the letter that the farmers had been rotating their crops with grass for at least a year.

Khrushchev demanded that the farmers get busy and use all their land for fodder crops such as corn, peas, beans and sugar beets.

The Soviet leader said it was "completely intolerable" that collective and state farmers had made no effort to increase the number of livestock in these areas.

Some Sign Of Gain In Job Picture

Washington (P)—The government reported Monday that while unemployment rose in February there were possibly encouraging signs in other phases of the over-all job picture.

Manufacturing employment, measured at 16.5 million, represented no increase but it did interrupt a 7-month decline which had largely cancelled out job expansion in service-producing industries.

Nonfarm payroll employment remained practically unchanged at $4.8 million in February whereas a 200,000 decline is usual in that month.

Harold Goldstein, head of a Labor Department panel of experts who brief reporters on the monthly job statistics, said the data reflect new employment strength—some encouragement in the face of rising unemployment totals.

'Invasion Cost China Friends'

NEHRU DECLARES U.S.-INDIAN BONDS GREATLY TIGHTENED

New York (P)—Prime Minister Nehru says the Chinese Communists' "wanton and massive invasion" of India last fall isolated Red China and lost her "the good will of most of the nonaligned countries, and even of many of her Communist allies."

Because of the Chinese actions, the Indian leader says, India and American relations "have seldom been as cordial as they are now."

"The deep sympathy and practical support received from the United States in meeting the Chinese aggression has created a wealth of good feeling," Nehru writes in Foreign Affairs, a quarterly of the Council on Foreign Relations.

Attack On Idea

Nehru depicts the Chinese invasion as an attack on the whole idea of nonalignment among nations, and says it may have been sparked in part by Peking's ideological quarrel with Moscow. He writes that the Chinese hostility to India has had such results as these:

"The impact of China, whether it again takes an acute military form or makes itself felt more insidiously, is forcing the pace of growth in India. Both the right and the left have been affected, and the nation as a whole is growing up. It is learning that in the world today it is not enough to be devoted to peace or to mind one's own affairs, but that it is also necessary to have adequate armed strength, to adjust our relations with friendly countries in the light of the changing realities of the international situation, and, above all, to preserve and consolidate national unity.

"The Communist Party of India is in disarray and the great majority of it has condemned the Chinese aggression."

Nonalignment

Nehru says that since India became independent of Britain in 1947 it has been guided by a policy of non-alignment, which, he adds, implied cultivating friendly cooperation with all countries and helping to keep world peace.

Consistent with this policy, he writes, India tried to develop friendly relations with Communist China.

"The wanton and massive invasion of last autumn has, however, brought an incalculable, ominous and explosive new element into the situation," Nehru goes on. "Peking's propagandists have tried to sow confusion in the public mind over this, but no amount of sophistry can conjure away the fact that the People's Republic of China is guilty of premeditated aggression."

Today's Chuckle

A shrewd gunman suddenly appeared at the paymaster's window of a large plant and demanded: "Never mind the payroll, bud. Just hand over the welfare fund, the group insurance premiums, the pension fund and the withholding taxes."

-4 PLANES-

Soviets Fly Over Carrier

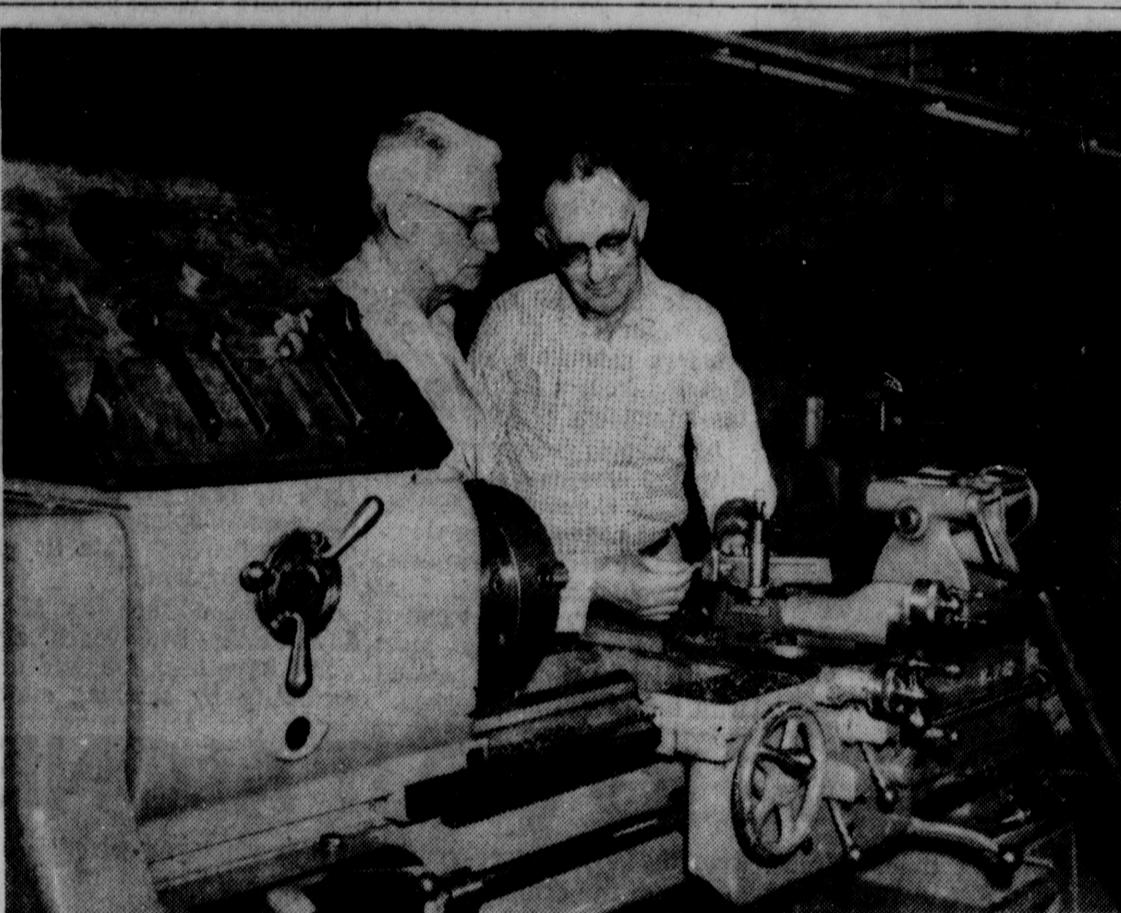

Washington (P)—Four Russian aircraft flew over the U.S. aircraft carrier Constellation in the Western Pacific two days ago, the Defense Department announced Monday.

U.S. Navy reconnaissance and fighter planes intercepted the 4 Russian craft about 100 miles from the ship and escorted them "during a total of 9 individual passes over the carrier," the Pentagon said.

3 Bears

The Soviet planes were of a type known as Bears, normally classed as bombers but used also for reconnaissance.

They were detected by radar more than 200 miles from the carrier.

First Outstate

It is the first such federally supported program offered to outstate Nebraska. According to Welsh, Omaha has two of these rehabilitation courses in operation.

Only the unemployed and persons earning less than $1,200 a year are eligible to apply, he noted.

Applicants are screened by the State Division of Employment.

"They soon will be back in the labor force," promised Lowell Welsh, director of the State Vocational Technical School, where the course is offered.

He said the special course will last 24 weeks, running initial offering in machine operation. Walter Bennett, a regular trade school department head, supervises.

More Courses

Additional courses in auto mechanics, farm tractor mechanics, and electrical appliance servicing will be added by early summer.

The 4 courses will bring more than $50,000 worth of machinery to the state trade installation.

"When the courses have been completed, the state will retain the machinery and I would imagine that it will stay here," Welsh said.

Long Stay

However, the program introduced by the Kennedy administration appears to be in for a long stay, he pointed out.

In greeting the new class members, who also receive a federal allowance during the training period, Instructor Smith declared, "There is a shortage of men in the machine operation area."

"The coast areas especially are crying for skilled machinists. They make anywhere from $1.85 to $3 an hour."

All of the students commute, Welsh added.

OTHER COUNCIL ACTION, PAGE 12

transfers and their previous opposition had been "merely a courtesy."

Talked To Two

Hub Hall, spokesman for Havelock businessmen, said the police lieutenant who wrote the department report had talked to only two business men.

"Havelock businessmen are strongly opposed to any new licenses in the community," he said, and introduced 9 businessmen present.

"Havelock used to be known as a rough place, but the saloon days are gone," he said. "We have all the licenses we need. If one went broke tomorrow, I couldn't care less."

Hall said Havelock representatives didn't appear at last Monday's public hearing on the matter because "we thought the council knew how we felt."

Havelock church leaders also spoke in opposition as well as attorney Rollin Bailey who said Monday's protest representation was a spontaneous reaction.

Take It To State

Lawyer David Tews, representing the two license applicants, suggested the Havelock protesters should appear before the liquor commission rather than the council which had a "full hearing last week" and "no opposition appeared."

The council was advised by other city officials that a formal protest had been filed with the liquor commission, and a commission hearing on the two applications will be set later.

Council vote for rescinding last Monday's approving resolutions and recommending denial of the applications was: For—Boosalis, DuTeau, Fulton, Hinkley and Tyrrell. Against—Becker. Absent—Comstock.

In describing influence of the Communists in Brazil, the State Department set off a diplomatic storm by saying, "in the government itself there has been infiltration."

No details were given.

Campos did not deny Red infiltration of his government, but said there is no infiltration.

Washington (P)—Brazil's ambassador sought and got Monday that its allegation that Communists have infiltrated Brazil's government was not timed to torpedo Brazil's urgent negotiations for more U.S. aid.

Ambassador Roberto Campos hurried in to see Acting Secretary of State George Ball after Brazil's President Joao Goulart reacted angrily to last week's publication of State Department testimony before

JFK Wants 'Wall' Around Cuba

SPREAD OF COMMUNISM RAPPED AT CONFERENCE

San Jose, Costa Rica (P)—President Kennedy pledged Monday night to isolate Castro's Cuba and bar the infiltration of Communist agents into the rest of the Americas.

"We will build a wall around Cuba—not a wall of mortar or brick or barbed wire but a wall of dedicated men determined to protect their own freedom and sovereignty," he declared.

On the heels of what security officials called the greatest welcoming ovation in Costa Rica's history, Kennedy opened his 3-day meeting with the presidents of 6 middle-America nations vowing "fierce and unyielding resistance" to the spread of "foreign tyranny" in the Western Hemisphere.

Absorbed

"The Soviet Union through its Cuban puppets absorbed the Cuban nation into its despotic empire—and it now seeks to extend its rule to the shores of continental America," Kennedy said.

"At the Organization of American States, at this meeting and wherever Americans gather to consult about the future of their continent, we will continue to strengthen the structure of resistance to subversion."

Kennedy addressed the presidents of Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala—all avowed enemies of Fidel Castro and targets of his subversion—after receiving a rip-roaring welcome from an estimated 200,000 people. Costa Ricans swept security officials aside and broke up a presidential procession in an air of fiesta.

Denied

Speaking in Costa Rica's ornate national theater, Kennedy defined the goals of the San Jose conference as "the preservation of our independence, the extension of freedom and the elevation of the welfare of our citizens to a level as high as we can attain."

"With the help of dedicated and brave men, we will ultimately triumph over aggressors of today. Democracy rules in most of our lands and it will ultimately prevail over the last vestiges of tyranny in every land in this hemisphere."

Kennedy pledged continued U.S. aid toward a developing Central American economic community of 13 million people and congratulated the Central American countries on long-range economic vision.

He referred to the budding Central American common market made up of Costa Rica, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua which hopes to break down trade barriers among themselves by 1966 and set up a common tariff wall. Panama has been invited to join, but that nation identifies itself more with South America than Central America.

$250 Million

Kennedy pointed out that almost $250 million has been committed under the Alliance for Progress to strengthen economies and raise living standards in Panama and the 5 Central American republics.

Citing the worldwide agreement to stabilize world coffee prices, vital source of Central America's revenue, Kennedy said the U.S. government is also willing to move ahead on agreements stabilizing the prices of other commodities.

"We shall continue under the alliance to build economies more balanced and less dependent on one or two export commodities," he said.

"To this end, we must push forward plans for industrialization, greater crop diversification, strong educational facilities and better utilization of resources."

Coincides

This economic outline coincides with the thinking of the assembled Latin American chiefs of state. They want action on Castro's Cuba, but believe their best defense against Cuban subversion is to heighten the social and economic well-being of their own peoples.

The crowds that greeted Kennedy on his arrival were so thick that thousands of people were forced into side streets and unable to catch a glimpse of him.

N.Y. PRINTERS MIGHT HAVE TO GO IT ALONE

New York (P)—The 3,000 striking New York printers until they got more.

Elmer Brown, president of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, said serious consideration was being given to halting financial support to striking New York Local 6 unless the vote was reversed. The decision already has been made as to whether to withdraw financial support, Brown added, but will not be announced for a few days.

No Orders Yet
"We are not going to order the local union to do anything at the present time," Brown told newsmen. "We do not want to interfere with the local in the efforts to settle their own contract."

Local 6 leaders late in the day set up new negotiations with the publishers.

Brown called the $12.53 contract proposal "a fair and reasonable one (which) should have been accepted by the membership."

Compromise

"I would not make book on their getting a better offer from the publishers," Brown declared, adding, "the time has come for compromise and settlement to get the people back to work."

The ITU president said Local 6 should consider the possibility that organized labor throughout the city might withdraw its support. And he added:

"We have a responsibility to 100,000 printers who are paying a strike assessment of 4% of their wages. Many are taking less in take-home pay than the strikers are receiving from a combination of strike benefits and unemployment insurance. Pressure is mounting daily."

Local 6 printers, who normally average $145 a week, currently draw about $70 a week in taxable strike benefits from the ITU, plus $50 a week in tax free New York state unemployment insurance, for a total of $120 a week.

$3.6 Million

The ITU has paid a total of roughly $3.6 million in strike benefits, and currently is paying at the rate of $210,000 a week. The strike began Dec. 8 and state unemployment insurance became effective in mid-February.

On another front, Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild, suggested printers' strike benefits be halted and the strikers told:

"OK boys, go it alone, if

Havana Radio acknowledged that several wounded sailors were taken to a hospital at Sagua la Grande in Las Villas province, but it did not mention the raid.

In Washington, neither the State Department nor the Pentagon had any comment.

Court Decides Against County-Unit Vote Plan

Washington (P)—The Supreme Court took another step Monday toward equalizing the ballot power of city voters with that of their county cousins.

It laid down in an 8-1 decision a "one voter, one vote" rule for statewide elections.

Out the window with it went Georgia's county-unit system for nominating candidates for U.S. Senator and state and judicial officers responsible to a statewide constituency. The system was used at times also in congressional elections.

It left on the hook ready for killing in another legal action Maryland's county-unit plan.

Maryland is the only other state having a county-unit plan similar to Georgia's.

Under the Georgia county-unit system the candidate winning a majority or plurality of a county's popular vote got all its unit votes. No county had less than two units and none more than 6. Thus it was possible for a candidate to poll a popular-vote majority statewide but still lose in the county-unit tally.

The ruling apparently had been widely expected among Georgia politicians because it had been foreshadowed by a 1960 decision of a special 3-judge federal court which forced conduct of last year's Democratic primary on a popular-vote basis.

In another attention-getting decision Monday, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously that states must provide defense attorneys in criminal trials of persons who cannot afford to hire lawyers.

In another case affecting prisoners' rights, the court held unanimously that drug-induced confessions are inadmissible as evidence, thus striking at the use of so-called truth serums on accused persons.

Monday's county-unit decision, written by Justice William O. Douglas, was the court's first involving voters' rights since a landmark case from Tennessee which was decided last March 26. In that case the court said federal judges have the right to review state legislative apportionment to determine whether invidious discrimination is involved against city and suburban voters.

Legislative apportionment was not involved in the Georgia case and this fact was stressed by Justice Potter Stewart in a concurring opinion in which Justice Tom C. Clark joined.

The legislative apportionment has brought a wave of litigation, but the Supreme Court has still not laid down any fixed guidelines for parcelling out state legislative seats.

Several legislative apportionment cases are pending before the high court. The court has not announced whether or when they will be heard.

Georgia conducted its latest primary election without using the county-unit system. This was made necessary when a special 3-judge federal court in Atlanta ruled the system denied voters equal protection of law and enjoined its use.

Georgia Likes Popular Vote; Court Decision No Surprise

Atlanta (P)—Gov. Carl E. Sanders said Monday the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the county-unit system of deciding elections was no surprise and that Georgians like the popular vote basis on which he won last September.

"The Supreme Court decision comes as no surprise," Sanders said in a statement dictated from a golf course in his hometown of Augusta.

"It merely serves to confirm the unanimous action of the State Democratic Executive Committee placing Georgia's Democratic primaries on a popular vote basis. That action had my support and it is my observation that most Georgians are well pleased with the way it has worked."

Sanders won the nomination under what most Georgians was a new fangled type of election, with the winner being the man getting the most votes. It was the first popular vote in a primary since 1908. In the others, the candidate getting the most units won and that system was weighted heavily in favor of rural counties.

In Maryland, also affected by the decision because of its modified unit plan, Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan said, "the decision is not unexpected. Until we read the full text of the court's opinion, we cannot conclusively state its effect in Maryland."

A decision such as Monday's even two years ago would have been followed immediately by scathing statements about a further usurpation of state's rights. Monday there wasn't a word of regret or the wiping away of a single tear at the Georgia Capitol.

Assumed

"I had assumed all the time that the court would rule as it did," said Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson, who has held that office for more than 20 years.

And Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, loser in the final round but winner of 3 previous unit cases in the Supreme Court, took it philosophically. He said this appeal had been for the purpose of avoiding confusion in subsequent elections.

"Now that the court has spoken, that's the law," Cook said, also noting that the state party had beaten the court to the punch by having a popular vote primary last year.

Summary of Conditions

The low pressure of the storm center late Monday night was around Manhattan, Kansas. A warm front extended from this low to just south of Kansas City to just south of St. Louis through Tennessee and the Georgia-Carolina coast. At the same time, a cold front extended out of the center through western Oklahoma through Western Texas into the Rio Grande Valley.

The low center was expected to move to northern Indiana by Tuesday evening. This sort of movement should hold some light rain through Tuesday afternoon and hold rains through most of Iowa during the greater part of the rest of Tuesday. Showers and thunderstorms are expected during the morning Tuesday along and to the north of the warm front through mostly southeastern Iowa. Temperature Tuesday in Nebraska should be very little different from Monday's temperatures. Cloudiness is likely to thin out in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa Hebron — Stanley P. Baldwin of Hebron has been awarded a National Defense Education Act fellowship as a graduate student at the University of Kentucky at Lexington, Ky.

The fellowship is for 3 years beginning in September, 1963, and carries with it benefits consisting of free tuition, plus allowances of $2,400 for the first year, $2,600 for the second year, and $2,800 for the 3rd year.

Baldwin is a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Nebraska majoring in English, and is an honor student. He is married to the former Dianne Hergott of Hebron. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Baldwin of Hebron.

This failure to develop effective affiliations accounts for a lot of the antagonism between private-practice and school physicians," Dr. Dunn said in a report circulated among faculty members.

He said agreements should be worked out between boards of trustees of the hospital and the university regents. Use of private hospitals by the college in training medical students would tend to minimize the need for a larger university hospital, he said.

There are fewer indigent patients today than in past years except, perhaps among the over 65 population. The latter group does not offer a variety of cases sufficient for educational purposes, according to Dr. Dunn.

Thus, either the college may have to depend more on private hospital patients or accept private patients in its own hospitals — and that possibility is highly controversial, the report said.

Working agreements between the college and private hospitals was part of the medical concept advanced by planners in the early 1950s. Dr. Dunn, in his report, contended that the geographical expansion of the college gets away from the "medical center" concept."

He said the major problem of the college now is a more reasonable operating budget. Many doctors privately and publicly argue that separating the budgets of the medical college and the University Hospital would be a step toward this goal.

Alvo Student Will Spend Summer As Member Of Workcamp In Japan

LeMars, Iowa — Robert Neben, a senior at Westmar College in LeMars, Iowa, and a native of Plattsburgh, Neb., has been chosen to be a member of the "Buildings for Brotherhood" workcamp in Japan during the summer of 1963. He is one of 5 chosen among the colleges and universities of the north central area student council of YMCA's in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and eastern Montana.

The Japan workcamp is the 4th in a series of summer workcamps conducted by the National Student Council of YMCA's in co-operation with the international committee of YMCA's. Forerunners of the Japan 1963 workcamp were projects in Turkey, Africa, Peru. This program of person-to-person service and mutual education is an expression of the compelling interest of young men in their world and the ways the world can be served through the YMCA.

In Japan, Neben will be one of the 17 workcampers who will be involved in helping develop a new campsite for Japanese youth. A similar sized group of Japanese students will be working in the project.

While at Westmar Neben has been very active in YMCA work. He has served on many committees, as commission chairman and as the out-going president. He has also been honored as being on the Dean's Honor Roll, ASWC senator, Westmar Christian Fellowship president, and a member of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Following graduation, he will attend Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville, Ill., with future plans of having a pastorate in the Nebraska Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Martin Introduces North Loup Bill

Washington (AP) — A bill to authorize the North Loup Irrigation Project in Nebraska was introduced Monday by Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb.

The $46 million project is designed to provide irrigation for about 53,000 acres in Loup, Garfield, Valley, Greeley, Howard, Merrick and Nance Counties.

It also would have fish and wildlife and recreational features. Storage dams are called for on Calamus River and Davis Creek.

SHOT SHATTERS JAR FROM AFAR AND 'KITTY' TOO

Police Officer Mark Rogers took aim from a distance and squeezed off a shot. He was rewarded by the sound of tinkling glass.

His target was a skunk with a glass jar over its head. He shot and killed it in the driveway of the National Manufacturing Co. at 1218 No. 22nd Monday night.

Police left the body for the Humane Society to pick up.

Police learned about the skunk from W. J. McKie of 2220 Orchard, who called in to say he had seen the creature wandering around with the jar on its head and thought it should be put out of its misery.

No one offered any explanation of how the jar got on the skunk's head, but the police men were certain of one thing—

It was not a tame, deodorized skunk.

Red Bakeries Won't Supply Jews' Bread

Moscow (UPI) — Jews in the Soviet Union have been told again this year that state-operated bakeries will not supply them with traditional Matzoh bread for Passover ceremonies next month, Jewish sources said Monday.

The ban first was enforced throughout the Soviet Union last year but Yehuda Leib-Levin, chief rabbi of the only synagogue in Moscow, told his congregation last Saturday that a new request had been turned down.

Matzoh is a flat, unleavened bread resembling that supposed to have been eaten by Jews who passed over the Red Sea out of bondage in Egypt centuries before Christ.

The Passover holiday, which commemorates the Jews' flight from Egypt, falls on April 18 this year.

Progress Of Medicine

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The President of the American Medical Association told an Omaha audience over the weekend that the American people don't want "cheap medicine." The speaker was Dr. Edward Annis, well known spokesman for the AMA, particularly as an antagonist of the Social Security plan of medical care for the aged. In the context in which it was said, the statement is one with which no one could disagree.

What Dr. Annis was saying was that medical science has made fantastic gains in recent years and that this was one of the outstanding achievements of this nation. If medical care is considered expensive today, such can serve as testimony to the progress that has been made in the treatment of humanity. Certainly, no one does want cheap medicine if this is meant to imply something that is inferior. The American people want and get the best medical care that can be obtained throughout the world. Infant mortality rates have been consistently lowered and life expectancy extended as a result of the progress we have made.

Dr. Annis drew a comparison between the physician of years ago and today's practitioners. No longer, he said, does the kindly family doctor spend the night at the patient's bedside. But a young doctor today, he said, will treat 20 new patients and heal them in wonderful ways.

The AMA president said that today's physician, however, still has the same kindness as his predecessors — the same great desire. Much of this, too, would bring on little argument. Modern medicine in many respects does resemble a kind of assembly line but it just about has to be this way. Medical care is not only better today, but is much more widely received than in the past.

But it seems that Dr. Annis has not examined the total picture. No one argues with the caliber of medicine or the dedication of physicians. These things, however, do not solve the economic problems that have come along with our other advances. Today's physician is unlike his predecessor in other ways, too. For instance, we know of no doctors who take laying hens or a side of beef in payment for their services. And persistence in the collection of accounts is about as efficient in the medical profession as it is in any other profession or business. However, even this is not exactly the point on which so much concern is shown these days.

In the days Dr. Annis says we don't want to go back to, few people ever faced much of an economic problem with medical bills. Medicine was such that the kind of expenses we know of today were hardly possible. People simply died of their ailments in years gone by. This fact, along with the changing social role of the physician, accounts for the economic problems that are faced in medicine today. And strictly as an economic matter, the situation would not generate the debate that it has. But medicine never has been and probably never will be strictly an economic matter. It isn't just a question of paying for what you get and getting what you pay for. This isn't the way the average person looks at medicine. There are other humanitarian considerations involved.

The existence and nature of these considerations are not difficult to agree upon, either, but from that point on, the agreement becomes more and more difficult to find. We would all agree that no one should be denied adequate medical care for want of sufficient funds but what constitutes adequate medical care and whose definition of sufficient funds do we use?

Isn't some of the progress of medicine lost on society when in place of a physical problem it often substitutes an economic one? If one had to accept either an economic or physical problem, there isn't much doubt that he would take the economic one. Few people would value anything higher than good health but this is not enough of an answer.

When a medical disaster strikes an individual, it is most unfortunate if it is accompanied by economic disaster and it is in a great many cases. It is in the case of people who, regardless of age, are hit by some unexpected serious illness or accident and it is in the case of many elderly people whose productive years have all been spent. Those who face no age handicap may be able to dig their way out of such disasters but not without a lot of suffering and worry. For the aged, we can leave them to the charity of the medical profession or make them, in effect, wards of the state.

It is the latter approach that is favored by the AMA through the Kerr-Mills medical care approach. But how long will the American people permit the existence of a medical system, despite its many outstanding achievements, that more and more constitutes a threat to their way of life? The availability of medical care is rapidly becoming as much of a challenge as the quality of such care itself.

Best Do Nothing

To picket or not to picket the visiting Soviet clergy is a question plaguing many. The best answer in case of doubt is to do nothing.

To Americans it is a paradox that clergymen may be the real thing coming from a communist country which vows that spiritual life is a dangerous myth and should be expunged. The two don't go together. But that happens to be mostly a Russian problem. Tyrants have tried to banish nature before.

One does not know how many of the visitors are real, but one must grant some reality to those who choose to live in official displeasure and to utter beliefs in a land where extensive effort is being made to counteract them. It would be more comfortable to be a conformist, perhaps even a party member. One wonders how many American critics would choose such a course.

The Individual Counts

Every effort will be made to isolate and get around it, but the U.S. Supreme Court ruling in the Georgia unit voting system strikes another blow at those who seek to preserve political powers they have lost as a result of changing times and trends. Because the decision is based on the Georgia unit rule idea, it will be said that the opinion has no bearing on such things as reapportionment.

Such an assertion, however, requires a little examination. The court said that "there can be room for but a single constitutional rule — one voter, one vote." Is it likely that the court would take such a clear and precise position as this in one matter affecting equal rights and then take off on another tangent in a different matter of equal rights? It does not seem logical to think so.

It cannot be said that a vote is one thing today and another tomorrow or that one does not have to confuse communism with an individual professing religious faith and great damage could not result in the visit of a few. But whether such visitors arrive in a religious habit or the clothing of a political official they have eyes to see and the United States cannot lose by comparison. The more such who see American freedom in action and who feel the warmth and hospitality of a people who are unafraid the less credence will be given to insistence at home that this is a land of implacable hostility, of grinding poverty and injustice.

The visiting clergy are expected to speak of peace and friendship Moscow style and to refrain from remarks critical to the Moscow rulers. After all, they have to go home. But while they are here America would do well to respect the cloth and not confuse it with those who wear it.

DREW PEARSON

New Chance For Central America

WASHINGTON — Charles de Gaulle of France and Fidel Castro of Cuba don't have much in common, but jointly they may have succeeded in putting a couple of time bombs under the lethargic march of Pan-American unity.

Ever since the days of Thomas Jefferson and Simon Bolivar, North and South Americans have been talking next to a trading area called the United States of America, which, one hundred years ago, in a bloody Civil War, settled the question of so-called states rights and barriers to unity.

Fidel Castro, our second unwelcome, disagreeable, but yet ever-present "ally," has put the second time bomb under us by warning that if we don't act to reform the encrusted oligarchy of Latin America and give a break to the landless peasants, his Russian-trained revolutionaries will.

In no other area of the world has the aristocracy, in this case the descendants of the old Spanish conquistadores, so successfully and sometimes brutally rebuffed reform.

Even before Kennedy, when Eisenhower in 1959 signed a modified Alliance for Progress and advanced $50,000,000 to Peru for land reform, the top 80 families controlling the arable land of Peru, merely put the money on the shelf. Land reform was ignored.

For this and other reasons, including lack of drive in both Washington and Latin America, the alliance has become not an alliance for political power and cooperation, but a bailing-out operation.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Near East Gives Reds Bad Setback

WASHINGTON — In the stale and quiet air of recent weeks is the smell of large impending events. The herald of those events may possibly be seen in what has been happening in the Middle East.

The Soviets put an estimated $350,000,000 in military aid to Iraq, a more or less primitive country of 7,000,000 people, following the coup of Brig. Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem that destroyed a pro-western government.

Yet, after the latest coup overthrowing Premier Kassem, communists have been jailed and executed in such numbers that Moscow has allowed a made-to-order demonstration staged against the Iraq embassy.

The amount of military aid going to Egypt up to the middle of last year from the Soviet Union adds up to nearly $600,000,000. Besides this, Moscow has supplied $1.25 billion in economic aid, including most of the resources for the Aswan dam. Yet it is President Gamal Abdel Nasser who sparked the revolt in Iraq and then in Syria. The prevailing belief in Washington is that Nasser had not a little assistance from the central intelligence agency.

The United States has not been all wrong in its several proposals to its unhappy little neighbors. But obviously the willingness of a favored elite to use American aid to strengthen itself while frustrating the reforms for which the aid was granted is a wrong way attitude. When done in the name of democracy it only, at long last, convinces the Latin American shirtless that democracy is a false hope, when in truth democracy, when allowed rein, is the only system that delivers the signs of success?

Patchwork Prairie Country

I have been waiting for one of those nice sunny, balmy days that March is capable of giving us. I was looking in my diary one night and found this recorded for March 12, 1938: "It was a real summer day today. The mercury went up to 83." I am prepared for any "unusual" day such as temperatures in the seventies or eighties and will not blame such a day upon "freakish" weather due to nuclear testing. I will leave those ideas for the scientists to calculate.

I am reminded of a cartoon I saw. Ever since the dawn of history, man has been seeking some excuse for unusual weather. This cartoon revealed a fear-stricken cave man standing with his spear in hand watching the lightning dart across the sky. Evidently some new invading tribe had taken a few pot-shots at him with a blow of gun powder. The cave man could hardly speak but when he did, he said: "We never had such freakish weather until they started setting off that gun powder."

At last the wild fowl have come back to our pond on their stop-over to the north.

I made a coconut cream pie for dinner today. I don't make coconut pie very often, although we both like it.

There is another piecrust baked. If I feel energetic tonight after school, I plan to put a lemon filling into it. I have a box of lemon pie filling on the shelf. I also have two lemons in the refrigerator. I wonder which I will use?

At last the wild fowl have come back to our pond on their stop-over to the north.

Other signs of Spring on the farm:

Grass, green and delicate, shooting forth along the sheltered roadside . . .

Bees humming through the air, testing the first warm breezes that blow . . .

Cattle rubbing their winter coats off on the fence posts and tree trunks in preparation for their sleek new summer wardrobes . . .

The rake which has been taken from winter storage, leaning against the picket fence like a hired man awaiting orders to go to work . . .

Me, leaning with the rake on a balmy day, hoping I have spring fever so I can find an excuse for sleeping . . .

A new litter of baby kittens in the barn rolled into balls of fluff that come to life at mealtime . . .

Little girls sitting about on the sidewalks playing jacks . . .

Little boys waiting to tease them or swipe a jack when they have an opportunity . . .

Fat little catkins on the pussy willows, crawling up and down the branches to soak up the sun . . .

Slum Problems

Lincoln, Neb.

An article on New York City in the March 26 issue of Look Magazine is especially interesting. The most thought-producing part of the article is the description of the slums. The reader is taken into the very lives of people who have long ago lost all that hope that makes life worth living. It is a cancerous growth that eats at the heart of our nation. It is repeated in most of our large cities and other cities of the world. Urban renewal rebuilds only the buildings, not the former tenants.

No doubt the many organizations for the uplift of these, our brothers and sisters, do all they can but the task is so great that it is never done, it seems. By no means are any definite percentages of criminals derived from these unfortunate areas. But the ideals and culture from birth forward necessary to produce law-abiding citizens is very nearly a minus article in these slum areas.

The efforts of religious organizations to secure the discontinuance of capital punishment by the state would be well and good if all citizens had received said culture and training as youths. Otherwise elimination is necessary to preserve a society of industrious and conscientious citizens. This fact will remain a guiding factor to our law-enforcement personnel until such areas shall have been almost completely erased from our soil. This is a goal we can all work and pray for as we go about our daily tasks. Our judges and juries now possess the necessary law to apply the penalty to each special case as it seems best.

Jack Benny May Become Geriatric Inspiration

By ROBERT PETERSON
Jack Benny is many things to many people. For most of us he's the comic personification of our middle-aged weaknesses, ranging from pettiness and peevishness to penuriousness and pretensions.

He may be destined to become a geriatric inspiration as well. The word septuagenarian once called to mind such adjectives as frail, shaky, docile and feeble. But Benny with his youthful, slim figure and snappy, buoyant spirit may change all this when he turns 70 next year.

The other night I saw his musical revue in New York. When he swaggers on stage the audience begins to chuckle. He tells a few old jokes, introduces some vaudeville acts and plays in two or three short sketches. Nothing very sensational happens.

Benny has so entrenched himself in the public affection that he doesn't need to be hilarious to be a hit. People feel good just seeing him there on stage describing what a rough time he has coping with the world around him.

He said that before going on tour he went to Cedars of Lebanon hospital for a complete check up. After they had taken various tests, the nurse asked how old he was. He started to say 39, but his conscience nudged him so he said 53. The nurse studied the test results and retorted, "You may be 53, but your corpuses are 69."

When he asked if she meant his red corpuses or his white ones, she snapped back, "Your gray ones."

Someone asked if he was going to Florida this winter. He replied, "Naw, if Ponce de Leon couldn't find that fountain down there, I'm not going to wear myself out hunting for it."

Proposed Highway

By DON WALTON

Star Staff Writer

A proposed comprehensive, statewide study of highway needs was buried by the Legislature Monday on a 29-10 vote.

The proposal, contained in Resolution 1 introduced by Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha, had looked to the possible development of a 20-year highway, road and street program.

Estimated cost of the study had been tagged at between $250,000 and $300,000, two-thirds of which would be paid with federal funds.

In leading the kill move, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff charged that the primary intent of the resolution was to develop a formula for redistribution of highway revenue funds.

Further, Carpenter said, he objected to "having a glorified firm of engineers impose upon us their judgment" on highway matters.

Local Control
Carpenter's argument against the study also touched on costs, the possible weakening of local control in highway and street matters, and the fact that legislative rules prohibit any "investigation" during a session of the Unicameral.

The resolution called for initiation of the study immediately. Subsequently, Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney ruled that the resolution did violate a rule, and would require 29 votes to suspend the rules and to adopt the measure.

As amended and unanimously approved by the Legislative Council's 4-member executive board, the resolution provided for appointment of a 9-member legislative committee and directed that a report be made to the 1965 Legislature.

The proposed study had received heavy support from federal, state and local officials at its public hearing last month.

Russillo argued that a study is needed to make the most economic use of highway funds, that long-range planning is necessary and that the state's development "will fall by the wayside" if its highway program is not improved.

Twenty-eight states have initiated highway studies since 1956, Russillo said. Nebraska has not held a study since 1947.

Under current conditions, Russillo said, Nebraska's highway system is developed "catch as catch can."

Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud reminded Russillo that "I heard a parade of Omaha witnesses the other day say spend no more money."

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton also opposed the study for reasons of cost.

Voting against the motion to kill were Sens. Cecil Craft of North Platte, Edward Danner of Omaha, Dale Erlewine of Grant, George Gerdes of Alliance, F. O. Gottschalk of Columbus, William Moulton of Omaha, Russillo, Harold Stryker of Rising City, George Syas of Omaha and Jerome Warner of Waverly.

Unicameral Approves Seat Belt Bill 35-6

Seat belts will become required equipment in 1964 model cars sold and operated in Nebraska under a bill approved 35-6 in the Legislature Monday and sent to Gov. Frank Morrison for signature into law.

Features of the law:

—Two safety belts are required in the front seat, none in the back seat.

—The requirement applies to passenger cars but not to motor trucks, buses or taxicabs.

—Any person selling 1964 model auto or later model without the required seat belts being in place shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of $25 to $100.

The bill, LB238, was introduced by Sens. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo and Peter H. Claussen of Leigh.

It carries the emergency clause and takes effect immediately when signed by the governor.

'Moon Trip Project Funds At Minimum'

Washington (AP) — The man-to-the-moon program already is "down to the lean meat," Wernher von Braun said Monday, and any cuts in its funds would defeat the goal of getting there by the end of this decade.

The Russians have repeatedly shown great competence in manned space flight, Von Braun added, and "If we stop racing, they'll undoubtedly meet."

He told a House space subcommittee the $5.7 billion budget request for space programs for the coming year "requires the occasional cutting of corners," but if that level is maintained the goal can be reached.

The Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., where Von Braun is directing development of the Saturn rockets for the moon venture, gets a $1.8 billion slice of the total budget for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Von Braun said "our program can most definitely not stand a 10% cut without seriously affecting the schedule. It would be very questionable if the President's statement of putting a man on the moon and bringing him back alive this decade could be met."

Even a 5% cut, he told questioning congressmen, would "undoubtedly cause some slippage."

As it is, he told newsmen after the hearing, NASA must take some shortcuts. Asked if this might affect the safety factor for astronauts, he said "it may in some respect affect the confidence factor."

VON BRAUN

"There's no fat left," he testified. "I think we are down to the lean meat . . . and I think a program like this ought to have some fat."

He said he meant by this an extra margin to cover unforeseen contingencies and delays.

Reds: 'Inspection Demands Will Ruin Ban Talks'

Geneva (AP) — The Soviet Union said Monday Western insistence on more than 3 on-site inspections a year will inevitably lead to a breakdown of the nuclear test ban negotiations.

Soviet disarmament negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin also warned the neutral bloc at the 17-nation talks against bringing pressure on Russia to raise its inspection quota offer.

The gray-haired Soviet negotiator became involved in a bitter clash with U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stelle on the inspection issue. He ignored Stelle's detailed exposition on what the United States understands by inspection and refused to be drawn into any discussion of inspection procedure.

Might Withdraw
Stelle referred to Tsarapkin's repeated warnings that the Soviet inspection offer might be withdrawn altogether unless the United States and Britain accept it soon. The U.S. delegate recalled Tsarapkin's recent remark that "there is still no agreement that there will be inspections" at all.

Stelle said Soviet acceptance of on-site inspection was the main theme of the letters exchanged between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev in January, and added: "I hope the Soviet representative will clarify this for us right now."

Tsarapkin ignored the appeal, and instead repeated a Soviet charge frequently rejected by the United States. That former U.S. delegate Arthur H. Dean himself suggested two or 3 inspections in a private conversation with Soviet delegates last November.

Will Break
"This was accepted by the Soviet Union. Now the United States is trying to bargain for a greater number of inspections, and this can have no result but the breakdown of the negotiations," Tsarapkin declared.

Clashes

Tsarapkin also clashed with Italian delegate Francesco Cavalletti on the expected intervention by the 8-national group of nonaligned countries. The 8 are expected to submit by the end of the month a joint memorandum containing suggestions for reviving the deadlocked test ban talks.

Cavalletti criticized the Soviet delegate for "speaking of failure at a time when we know we shall soon have an important contribution by the neutral delegations." He said Tsarapkin's attitude indicated the Soviet government was seeking to avoid the neutral bloc's conciliatory effort and thus was "aiming at torpedoing our negotiations."

Cavalletti pressed Tsarapkin to explain exactly why more than 3 inspections were unacceptable to Moscow. The Soviet delegate replied: "I have answered this several times and I do not intend to repeat myself."

Then he charged that the Italian delegate's remark proved the United States "seeks to recruit the neutrals to support its demand for more inspections and thus bring about a clash between the Soviet Union and the non-aligned bloc."

Bomb Explodes At Air Terminal

San Francisco (AP) — A bomb blast in an overseas package — so powerful it could have caused a plane crash — ripped through an air mail sorting room at San Francisco International Airport Monday. Two postal clerks were injured.

Investigators believe a souvenir hand grenade mailed from Korea caused the explosion. They doubted the device had been planted.

Six other persons suffered temporary deafness and a woman was treated for shock.

In Morning

The blast came at 8:20 a.m. in the overseas mail section of the airport post office, next to the main passenger terminal.

It blew out 20 windows. Postmaster John Fixa said the blown windows helped lessen the force of the blast inside the room where 50 people worked.

San Mateo County Sheriff Earl Whitmore said: "I'm sure it was powerful enough to damage a plane—probably enough to release the high pressure inside the plane."

Truck, Train Collide Near Grand Island

Grand Island (AP)—Collision of a grain truck and a Union Pacific freight train two miles west of the junction of Neb. #2 and U.S. 34 near Grand Island about 6 p.m. Monday demolished the truck and derailed two engine units and 7 train cars.

The truck driver, Robert C. Seemer, Jr., 29, of Roscoe, suffered a cut over his left eye. Engineer Jim Boyle of Hastings suffered possible back and arm injuries. Both were taken to a Grand Island hospital for treatment.

Safety Patrolman James C. Sievers of Grand Island said about 30,000 gallons of gasoline in 3 rail tank cars was dumped at the scene. Auto traffic was rerouted around the scene of the crash until the gasoline can be removed. There was no fire.

Sievers said an empty box car and a flat car were extensively damaged and two other boxcars were derailed. He said the truck, loaded with 40,000 pounds of corn, was demolished.

Railroad crews were expected at the scene Tuesday to start cleaning up and rebuilding approximately 150 feet of track torn up.

Sievers said that it was raining at the time of the accident and the driver reported he did not see the train.

The train was headed for Grand Island from Hastings.

Pope John Stumbles, Falls Before Audience; Isn't Hurt

Vatican City (UPI) — Pope John XXIII stumbled Monday and fell forward on the steps of his throne during a mass audience but was not injured.

The 81-year-old pontiff was mounting the steps to his throne unaided when he stumbled on the 7th and last step and fell heavily on his stomach.

An "Oh" of dismay rose from the audience as half a dozen aides including Chamberlain Master Msgr. Mario Nascali Rocca and Papal Sacristan Msgr. Peter Canisius Van Lierde rushed to his side and helped him to his feet. There was applause when he got up.

The pontiff did not seem to be overly disturbed by the fall and unlike similar incidents in the past did not mention it in his informal address to the audience.

The Pope stumbled and fell several months ago during an audience to a group of housemaids and commented with a smile, "See what happens when one hurries."

Monday's incident came during an audience in the Clementine Hall for a pilgrimage from his home diocese of Bergamo in which he blessed the cornerstone of a missionary house which will be built there.

Moroccans Say France Held N-Test

. . . IN SAHARA

Rabat, Morocco (AP) — The Moroccan government said Monday it had learned that France fired a nuclear device Monday in the Algerian Sahara.

King Hassan II instructed his foreign ministry to protest to France.

(There was no immediate comment from the De Gaulle government or from Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's regime, which sources reported earlier had threatened to break off cooperative agreements with France if the French went ahead with the test.)

A Moroccan government communiqué gave no source for its statement that the French exploded a nuclear device Monday in the Haggard region near Reggane, the French military testing center deep in the Algerian Sahara.

It said King Hassan had contacted Algeria's Premier Ahmed Ben Bella by telephone and communicated Morocco's support of the Algerian government's opposition to the nuclear tests.

The Moroccan announcement said:

"As soon as he had heard the news announcing the atomic explosion carried out today by the French government in the region of Haggard, his majesty the King ordered his foreign minister and personal representative to summon the French ambassador in Rabat to deliver Morocco's protest against this initiative — an initiative contrary to the principles to which our country remains attached."

"Our country has always proclaimed its disapproval of atomic explosions in general and in particular its opposition to the use of African territories and certain parts of the Arab Maghreb (North Africa); for this purpose . . ."

The Moroccan statement did not say whether the reported French test was above or below ground. The French had been reported planning an underground test.

Reformatory Paper Lauds Supt. Keller

Clarence V. Keller, whose resignation as superintendent of the Nebraska Men's Reformatory takes effect March 31, has been praised in an editorial in the institution's publication, the Monocle.

After reviewing what he called the "political witch hunt" which led to Keller's resignation, the inmate editor wrote:

"I believe we owe Mr. Keller much for treating us, when we would allow him, with dignity and understanding; for his efforts to revitalize the flagging education program and for his efforts to establish the beginnings of an effective vocational training system to aid us in the future."

The editorial said that throughout the "entire ordeal by verbal scourge, Mr. Keller has acted as a man of honor, has vindicated the judgment of his superior, and has, as a consequence gained the confidence of the men of the institution."

Bill Enlarging Railway Commission Held

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A bill proposing to enlarge membership of the State Railway Commission from 3 members to 5, and to provide for their election by districts rather than statewide, was one of two measures heard and held Monday by the Government Committee.

The second measure, LB557, introduced by Sen. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo, would extend the period for which paving bonds may be issued by second class cities and villages.

The bill relating to the Railway Commission, LB406, introduced by Sens. Hal Brindenbaugh, Burbach, former Sen. Jack Romans of Ord, and O. D. Menefee, representing 3 railroad trade unions, spoke in favor of the bill.

Voter Approval
That study resulted in the submission to the voters in 1962 of a constitutional amendment providing for enlargement of the commission up to 7 members and election of them by districts. The amendment was approved in the November general election. Brindenbaugh, Burbach, former Sen. Jack Romans of Ord, and O. D. Menefee, representing 3 railroad trade unions, spoke in favor of the bill.

They said the work load of the agency has increased so greatly over the years that more commissioners are needed to handle cases.

They also held that electing the commissioners by district would enhance the chances of getting well-qualified persons who might not want to seek the post if statewide election were required.

Romans also suggested that enlarging the commission should expedite decisions, noting personal experience in which 13 months lapsed between a hearing and decision.

John DuPont, representing the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce; Einar Viren, Omaha attorney and former railway commissioner representing the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, and W. D. Alf of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., opposed the bill.

DuPont said the Lincoln chamber opposes the bill on several grounds, including the additional cost of two more commissioners without assurance that it would bring additional value.

He suggested if more funds are available, they should be spent to increase commissioner salaries and the hiring of an adequate staff.

Alf offered a substitute bill which would maintain 3 commissioners, but provide for their election on the basis of the state's 3 congressional districts.

Viren said the greatest job of the commission is setting policies which must be based on what is best for the state as a whole. Sectionalism should not enter into these decisions, he said, and this could result from election by districts.

Previously heard, and also being held by the commission, is LB258, a measure abolishing the commission as a constitutional entity and enabling it to be re-established as a statutory body.

Agate Area

Dan Jones, state water resources director, told the committee the compact affects a small area in Nebraska involving the Niobrara River basin from Agate, Neb., west to Wyoming.

Hold by the committee was LB737 which seeks to allow the state director of motor vehicles to appoint hearing examiners to conduct implied consent hearings.

Under present law, the director must preside over all such hearings himself.

Juvenile Court Trio Advanced

A trio of bills relating to juvenile court procedures was advanced 5-0 to the legislative floor Monday by the Juvenile Committee.

The measures, LBs 547, 548 and 549, were recommended by the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth, following a study of the juvenile courts requested by Gov. Frank Morrison.

LB549, introduced by Sen. Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha, is new legislation which would allow the governor to enter into the interstate compact on juveniles. The compact, adopted by over half the states, establishes policies and procedures for the return, from one state to another, of non delinquent juveniles who have escaped or absconded.

Juvenile Referee
LB547, additional new legislation, introduced by Sen. George Syas of Omaha, provides for the appointment by the judge of a separate juvenile court of a referee, who must be admitted to practice law in Nebraska and a member of the bar, to hear in the first instance cases directed to him by the judge.

Billiard Age Law Status Stays Quo

The Legislature's Miscellaneous Subjects Committee decided Monday not to tinker with the state law which prohibits youngsters under 18 from patronizing public pool halls or billiard parlors.

Killed 4-1 was LB466, introduced by Lancaster County's 3 senators, which would have reduced the playing age to 16 but would at the same time have prohibited sale or consumption of alcoholic liquor on the premises.

The bill also would have exempted youth recreation centers from the age limitation.

At its recent public hearing, LB466 drew support from pool hall and billiard parlor operators who said they hope to make pool playing a family recreation much as bowling alleys have become.

The bill is designed to help alleviate the crowded condition of the separate juvenile court docket, especially in Douglas County, Lincoln attorney Richard Hansen told the committee.

LB548, introduced by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln a m e n d s a present statute which contains a provision for jury trials in juvenile cases. The bill would delete this provision, in accordance with recent decisions of the State Supreme Court, stating that a child charged with delinquency is not eligible for a jury trial unless a crime is involved.

Killed 4-1 by the committee was LB240, introduced by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, providing for compensation and quarters for clerical and stenographic employees during private investigation of separate juvenile courts.

In other action, the committee:

—advanced LB59, providing for the transfer of a mechanic's lien on other property to the state tax collector.

—advanced LB321, providing procedure when taxpayer neglects to sign his personal property tax return.

—advanced LB320, removing obsolete provisions of law requiring Lincoln to appoint a corps of 4 physicians and 4 surgeons for hospital service.

Medicine Creek District Okayed

Approval of the Medicine Creek Watershed Conservancy District has been given by the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission.

The Medicine Creek project covers 450,000 acres in Lincoln and Frontier Counties.

The project itself is in the planning stage now. Setting up a district is necessary for obtaining necessary right-of-way to do the job.

A Wedding In July

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schneider of Cortland make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rebecca, to Kenneth Dubas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dubas of Burwell.

A July wedding is planned.

Miss Schneider will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Chi Omega sorority, and of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional music fraternity.

Mr. Dubas is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The 15th annual observance of Child's Day for youth Aliyah will be celebrated on Sunday, March 24, by both Christians and Jews to mark the anniversary of the international program of bringing homeless Jewish children to Israel.

Youth Aliyah (a Hebrew word meaning both "ascending" and "immigration") was originated in 1934 when Henrietta Szold, founder of Hadassah organization for Jewish Women, planned the migration of the first group of 43 children from Hitler Germany. The project has developed into a rehabilitation program in Israel for homeless children in many lands.

Cared for in settlements and special children's villages where housing, schooling, medical care and vocational training is provided, the children have come from 72 countries and have totaled more than 110,000 since 1934. Supported by both Jewish and Christian organizations, the program plans for the rescue of additional thousands of children (6,000 are expected this year above the current 12,000 in residence).

On Wednesday, Governor Frank Morrison will join with the governors of all 50 states in issuing proclamations marking the program's anniversary. Each governor will be presented a ceramic urn, made by children in Israel, and containing facsimiles of the Dead Sea scrolls.

Chosen from over 100 applications for post-graduate study aid from women throughout the world were Miss Alexandra Jean Culbertson of Walla Walla Wash., who will study French literature at the Sorbonne, Paris; Miss Agnes Yung Ge Bae of Pusan, Korea, who will study for an advanced degree in educational psychology at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.; and Miss Dona Claire Hooper of Ligonier, Pa., who will study for a doctorate in experimental morphology at the Sorbonne.

The Soroptimist Club of Lincoln, of which Mrs. Margaret M. Davis is president, contributes to its national Foundation, which also has awarded a $400 grant-in-aid to Mrs. Lila Linhares Blandy of Sao Paulo, Brazil, for the purchase of occupational therapy equipment and books.

Dear Abby

Also Pray—For Better Sense

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been officially engaged (with a two-carat ring) to the same girl three times. Each time she has given the ring back and says she's changed her mind. She never has a reason. She just changes her mind. I have literally gotten down on my hands and knees and BEGGED her to marry me. I don't want to be put off any longer. She's not a child. She's 24 and I am 28. I am crazy about this girl and want to know how I can get her to marry me tomorrow.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN: You can't. It takes three days for a blood test in your state. Furthermore, any fellow who wants to get down on his hands and knees and BEG a girl to marry him should pray for better sense while he's in that position.

DEAR ABBY: Judging from the phone calls he gets, a married man in our office apparently has a girl friend.

The most extraordinary team of four match I ever played in occurred in the semi-final round of the Vanderbilt in 1952. My team, consisting of Samuel L. Stayman, Howard Schenk, John R. Crawford, George Rappe and myself, held the world championship at the time, and we were playing against four guys named Joe.

It was a 48-board match and, at the halfway mark, after 24 boards, we were 3,770 points behind. Our unknown opponents had played perfect bridge, and our team at the same time, had played as though its collective feet were asleep.

Here is a sample of the kind of bridge we ran into during those 24 boards. I friend. Be kind to her. She needs it.

DEAR ABBY: Dad is 60 and I am 58. We have a married daughter who lives out of the state. Last week she wrote that she and her husband were breaking up after 12 years of marriage. They have three school-age children. She wants me to come and stay with her children while she goes back to work. I don't want to leave Dad alone, but I hate to let my daughter down. She didn't say for how long she would need me, but she's a very selfish person and once I got there it will be months. What should I do?

BIG DECISION
BIG DECISION: Stay with your husband and write your daughter that she will have to make some permanent arrangements for running her household if she intends to go back to work — so she had better start now.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FOOL IN PARADISE": It wasn't the fruit on the tree, it was the pair on the ground that caused all the trouble. Your "paradise" is almost lost.

How is the world treating you? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Clever Ideas For Token Gifts

Patricia Scott

Little gifts are sometimes the most difficult to find. Since you may want to give token gifts to teenage friends or a thank you gift to mother without spending a great deal of time or money, here are three that can be made quickly and easily.

GROSGRAIN HEADBAND (Figure A): You'll need 2-3 yards of grosgrain ribbon 1 1/2 inches wide; 2/3 yard of narrow velvet ribbon or soutache braid of three colors; 1/4 yard of cord elastic.

1. Cut a 21-inch piece of grosgrain. Sew three rows of ribbon or soutache braid equally spaced lengthwise along the band.

2. Make 1/2 inch hem at each end of ribbon. Draw cord elastic through each hem and adjust to fit. Knot elastic and hide knot inside of casing.

DECORATED PLASTIC HEADBAND (Figure B): You'll need one plastic headband; 1 1/2 yards of regular rickrack in two colors, or 2 1/2 yards of rickrack in one color; household glue.

1. Interlock two pieces of rickrack and press.

2. Cut one piece the same length as the headband and glue it to the center. Cut another piece long enough to go along the entire outer edges, completely covering the headband. Glue in place.

COVERED HANGER (Figure C): You'll need one wire hanger; three old nylon stockings; three yards of single fold bias tape; ribbon and artificial flower.

1. Cut the heel, toe and top from the stocking, and wind it snuggly around the wire, starting and ending at the neck. When you come to the end of one stocking and start with the next, tack them together securely. Also tack at the ending.

2. Wind bias tape to cover stockings, overlapping tape neatly. Start at the hook end and finish at the neck joining, using glue or hand stitches to secure end.

3. Tie a ribbon bow around the neck and tack on a flower.

HINT: For a sturdier effect you can wind the stockings around two hangers. If you want a hanger with thicker paddings, use additional stockings. You can accumulate more stockings than you think in a very short time. Never throw away ripped stockings. In-

Full Industrial Rate Study Asked

By VIRGIL FALLOON

Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday called for a "full cost study and report next Monday" on the possible reduction of City Light Department electrical rates for industry to equal those of Omaha.

Public Works Director D. L. Erickson presented a consultant's study of 1961-62 city electrical service costs but said a further analysis of reduced rate costs is being made.

Several councilmen have suggested the city should go all the way in reducing the industrial rate disparity between Lincoln and Omaha in contrast to Consumers Public Power District's proposal.

Consumers has proposed a 9.3% average industrial rate cut, reducing the disparity between the two cities by approximately 50%.

Raise Suggested

Councilman Robert Fulton, a retired consulting engineer, suggested the city commercial light department could meet the Omaha industrial rate if the power costs for the city water department's pumping operations were raised to a "fair margin of 15%."

During the 1961-62 fiscal year, the light department showed an 8.2% loss margin between revenue and cost of service to the water department.

Fulton noted the residential service rate shows a 12% net income margin as compared with higher margins on rates for semi-commercial, 28.6%; commercial, 21.6% and industrial, 22.6%.

The report showed overall electrical revenue was $1,763,732 as compared with total cost of service of $1,554,090 or an overall net income margin of 13.4%.

LAFB Lost

However, Erickson noted that the city lost the Lincoln Air Force Base as a customer ($65,000 a year) when it elected to buy Bureau of Reclamation power under a contract option last July.

"The air base was a profitable customer," Erickson said in noting this loss could affect the 1961-62 analysis figures.

Erickson said the service costs analysis for 1961-62 was made by Clarence W. Minard, an Omaha electric utility consultant.

Councilman Al DuTeau has suggested the city can take the lead in reducing industrial power costs because the commercial light department has "few industrial customers."

Several Surprised

Several other council members expressed surprise they had adopted such a resolution.

In the reconsideration move, the council said the resolution would be suspended until a cost estimate study and report could be made Public Works Director D. L. Erickson.

"Assuming these costs without an estimate is like endorsing a blank check," Councilman C. Robert Fulton suggested. "We should have firm estimates before adopting such a resolution."

Salt-Wahoo representatives, meeting with the council last week in urging the resolution, estimated the city's share of the Salt Creek project should not exceed $200,000.

Aid Anticipated

While two No. 10th bridges are estimated at $250,000, they said some state-federal road aid could be anticipated by the city. No utility work estimate was given.

The watershed district has agreed with the Corps of Engineers to assume the non-federal costs of land acquisition, maintenance and operation of the improvement and the "enhanced value" cost equal to 4.3% of the federal construction cost of the project.

Council vote for reconsideration was 5-0. Councilman Ed Becker, also a director of Salt-Wahoo district, abstained.

Council Reverses Vote On Salt Creek

The City Council Monday voted to reconsider its resolution agreeing to assume non-federal costs of bridge and utility work in the proposed Salt Creek channel improvement through Lincoln.

Last week, the council adopted a resolution to as-

Krause

Joe Krause Tosses Hat In Council Race

Joseph L. Krause of Franklin filed Monday as a candidate for City Council.

Krause, 28, is a practicing attorney and a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

In filing, Krause said he believed in the growth of Lincoln as an industrial and educational center of mid-America.

"Our greatest problem here isn't taxation, but the willingness to get down to work to attract new industry."

Planners Praised

He praised efforts of Lincoln city planners to develop an integrated plan for the city's growth, but said the community must still cope with such basic questions as service to outlying communities, "piecemeal" annexation and access routes from the Interstate.

Krause said he favored a city-county building.

A native of Cedar Bluffs, Krause served with the Air Force from 1956 to 1959, is married and has one child.

Fulton also has called for a report on city buildings, such as Pershing Municipal Auditorium, and other city operations, such as the 51st Street pumping station and street lights, buying power from Consumers.

Erickson said the Minard report was received in mid-February and copies given to R. E. Campbell, co-chairman of the power advisory board, at that time.

Existence of the report was not disclosed publicly until Monday when copies were distributed to council members by Erickson.

LAFB Lost

However, Erickson noted that the city lost the Lincoln

Air Force Base as a customer ($65,000 a year) when it elected to buy Bureau of Reclamation power under a contract option last July.

"The air base was a profitable customer," Erickson said in noting this loss could affect the 1961-62 analysis figures.

Erickson said the service costs analysis for 1961-62 was made by Clarence W. Minard, an Omaha electric utility consultant.

Councilman Al DuTeau has suggested the city can take the lead in reducing industrial power costs because the commercial light department has "few industrial customers."

Minard's study shows the city has 20 "industrial or heavy users" of which the Journal-Star Printing Co. and Lincoln voters may be asked to consider a charter amendment whereby the City Council can order in an ornamental lighting district without petition within a half-mile of City Hall.

Councilman Robert Fulton Monday requested a resolution putting such a charter amendment on the May ballot to be prepared for council consideration next week.

Fulton said Nathan Gold, one of the proponents of Ornamental Lighting District 60, had requested such a move.

The district was created last year for N from 11th to 16th and 11th from M to N, but proponents are reported to be having trouble getting a majority of property owners to sign formal petitions under which the improvement can be ordered in.

No Such Provision

Public Works Director D.

L. Erickson said street improvement districts for arterials within 1.5 miles of City Hall can be ordered in with- out petition, but no such charter provision exists for ornamental lighting (street lighting) districts.

Erickson said the proposed half-mile limit for lighting districts would cover the downtown district as far east as 16th.

The council was advised by its attorney that the suggested charter amendment could make the May ballot with prompt council action, but not the April ballot.

Collision Of Two Cars

Starts Chain Reaction

What began as a two-car collision at the intersection of 9th and J Monday afternoon developed into a series of 3 collisions involving 6 cars and finally resulted in injuries to two people.

Police identified the injured as Henry Fushia, 54, of 220 E., and Allen D. McIntosh, 62, of 1736 Sumner.

Officials said Fushia was driving west on J when his car was in collision with a southbound car driven by Lila M. Root, 25, of 2731 Q, in the intersection.

McIntosh was a passenger in the Root car, according to police.

Lt. Bill Satterthwaite said that after the initial collision the Fushia car was deflected in a northeast direction, toward the east curb of 9th, curved back into the street and was in collision with another southbound car driven by Mrs. Bonnie Miller, of 3830 F. Mrs. Miller proceeded on her way.

The second collision sent the Fushia car toward the west curb of 9th, where it collided with a parked car, knocking the parked car into a second parked car, which was knocked into a third parked car.

Police said the parked cars were owned by John C. Meyernhoff, of 1810 So. 51st; Roger L. Robertson, of 2232 No. 32nd, and Vernon E. McGowen of 1526 Arapahoe.

Mrs. Miller's husband later reported to the station and told police his wife was driving the car involved in the second collision.

Only two of the cars involved in the series of collisions could be driven from the scene of the accident, Mrs. Miller's car and the car of the parked vehicles. The others were towed away.

Satterthwaite said the 6-car smashup covered a distance of 248 feet.

Traffic was detoured for about an hour as the wrecked cars were towed from the scene.

Fushia and McIntosh were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by ambulance.

Fushia was treated and released, and McIntosh was admitted to the hospital for observation and treatment of injuries to his left leg. He was listed in good condition.

U.S. Space Facilities Superlative

Cocoa Beach, Fla. (AP) — A rocket expert spoke in superlatives Monday in describing the mammoth rocket and launch facilities which will be used to send American astronauts to the moon.

In an address to an aerospace conference, Rocco Petrone of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration cited these figures:

- The Saturn V booster and the Apollo spacecraft will have combined height of 360 feet and liftoff weight of 3,000 tons. For comparison, the Atlas-Capsule combination for the Project Mercury orbital flights is 83 feet tall and weighs about 130 tons.
- The Apollo spacecraft with its 3-man crew will be 59 feet high and 12 feet 10 inches in diameter and weigh 45 tons. The lunar excursion module — or "bug" — which will drop two of the pilots to the moon will weigh 12½ tons.

Launch Complex

— Launch Complex 39 now in various stages of design and construction at nearby Cape Canaveral will have firing areas for 3 Saturn V rockets. A dominating feature will be a vertical assembly building 52 stories high where 4 of the 3-stage rockets can be checked out simultaneously in upright position.

— A massive crawler-transporter moving one mile an hour will carry the assembled rocket and its 380-foot-tall umbilical tower from the assembly building to the pad. The transporter weighs 275 tons, is 131 feet long and 114 feet wide. Powered by diesel generators, it travels on 4 double-tracked crawlers like those on road-grading machinery.

Petrone, chief of NASA's heavy space vehicle systems office, spoke at a space flight testing conference sponsored by the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics. More than 700 engineers and scientists are attending.

Schirra Speaks

Another speaker Monday was Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., who outlined pilot preparation for an orbital mission.

Schirra reported that in the 3 months before his 6-orbit flight last October he spent more than 70 hours on his back in a procedures trainer and in his Sigma 7 spacecraft practicing his flight profile, familiarizing himself with the capsule and reacting to sudden "failures" introduced by test supervisors.

To maintain flight proficiency, Schirra said he logged 35 hours in jet aircraft. He also attended numerous planning and review conferences, maintained his physical condition with exercise, studied the stars and took refresher spins on a centrifuge.

Langenheim Lobby Work Must Cease

Gov. Frank Morrison said Monday that Roger A. Langenheim, Kansas City attorney, will have to cease all lobbying activities involving the Nebraska Legislature if he is to remain as a consultant for the State Department of Agriculture.

High in his praise for Langenheim, the governor termed him "one of the fathers of Nebraska's agricultural research program," and described him as "invaluable in this entire area" and "irreplaceable."

Morrison said that State Agricultural Director Pearle Finigan told him he had "misunderstood" the governor's orders relative to state employees' lobbying activities — that it was his understanding that the restriction was limited to appearances before legislative committees.

Order To Prevent

"My order," Morrison said, "would prevent any state employee from any lobbying activity or attempting to influence any legislation except by request of the Legislature, one of its committees, or upon permission of the governor."

Langenheim, a former Lincoln resident, is a registered lobbyist for the Seaboard Cating Co. He represented that company's opposition to a

New Bill May Repeal Parts Of Lottery Act

The Legislature's Public Health Committee Monday agreed 5-2 to sponsor a new bill which would, in effect, repeal provisions of the so-called "lottery" bill earlier approved by the Unicameral.

Action followed by just a few hours debate on the floor initiated by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Carpenter said the lawmaking body has "created a monster" in the matter of lotteries which threatens to drive independent merchants out of business.

He called attention particularly to an advertisement by a chain food store reporting the giveaway of 54 prizes of $100 each in a contest of a type made legal by the lottery amendment approved by voters last November and the subsequent legislation translating the amendment into law.

The amendment and law permit free drawings where no payment of money or expenditure of substantial time or effort are involved.

Sen. Carpenter reported he is having a bill drafted to repeal the earlier lottery bill (LB51) and substitute for it a measure which would prohibit the type of giveaway to which he referred.

"We have created a monster which, if not stopped now, is going to drive independent merchants off main street," he said.

The Legislature ought to "determine the question before it gets out of hand," he said.

And Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte said "I foresaw this coming long before this amendment passed." He said he hopes the Carpenter idea bears fruit "because we need to do something." But he said he thought LB51 was drawn about as tightly as it could be drawn and questioned whether the problem could be met with new legislation.

Farm Price Supports Cost $9.65 Billion For 10 Years

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Monday farm price support programs during the 1953 to 1962 fiscal years cost taxpayers $652,500,000.

Losses on dairy and dairy products during the 10-year period under the regular price support programs amounted to $2,433,100,000. Funds received under the Section 32 tariff law and the school lunch program raised this figure to approximately $3.5 billion.

Losses under the regular cotton price support program in the same years totaled $1,204,200,000.

Coupled with approximately $650 million in cotton export subsidy payments, the actual loss figure would total about $1.8 billion.

The department said this was offset somewhat by a profit of about $300 million realized on sales of cotton acquired prior to 1953.

The two other farm commodities which accounted for a big share of the $9.6 billion loss, said the department, were corn and wheat.

Here is a practical puzzle-like game to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in the first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 4. Take the key number. Start at the upper-left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every letter whose key number is left to right. Then read the message; the letters under the checked figures give you the answer. (This is registered U.S. Patent Office.)

IDAHO COACH ON NU LIST

Selection Near For Cage Post

... OTHERS CONSIDERED

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

A former pupil of Nebraska athletic director Tippy Dye entered the picture Monday night in the Huskers search for a head basketball coach.

Joe Cipriano, who played under Dye in the early 1950s when the NU athletic director was coaching at the University of Washington, was disclosed Monday night as one of the applicants being considered for the Nebraska post, which becomes vacant July 1.

Dye said Cipriano is one of 3 or 4 coaches being considered for the Husker job. He disclosed that Cipriano was a candidate when asked for comment on a rumor that the Idaho coach had been hired for the position.

The Husker athletic boss did not identify the other candidates but said he hoped to announce the choice within a week or so.

Cipriano came to Idaho 3 years ago after coaching AAU ball and playing with the Buchanan Bakers out of Seattle. He also coached high school ball in the Seattle area.

Idaho was his first college coaching job. His first season was a 10 win, 16 loss affair, but the record has improved each of the past two years with a 13-13 mark in 1961-62 and a 20-6 record the past season.

His fast breaking Idaho set 24 individual and team scoring records the past season while piling up a 75.2 points per game offensive average. They gave up an average of 66.7 points per contest.

The Huskers have been looking for a new cage mentor since Jerry Bush announced his resignation in February, effective July 1.

Bush had not had a winning season in his 9 years at Nebraska and the past campaign was the worst of his coaching career at NU with a 6-19 season mark and a 1-13 record in the Big 8.

When Dye makes his selection of the new cage boss, it will be the second head coaching post he has filled since coming to Nebraska just over a year ago.

He brought Bob Devaney from Wyoming to direct the football fortunes and the popular Husker coach brought NU football stock rising to an 8-2 season mark and capped it with a win over Miami of Florida in the Gotham Bowl.

Rifle Tourney
Slated At NU

Washington, D.C.—The University of Nebraska Rifle Club will play host to a Sectional Intercollegiate Rifle Tournament March 29-31, the National Rifle Association of America announced Monday.

Scores fired by individuals and teams participating in the tourney will be used in determining the NRA National Indoor Championships this year.

Burnett said he had given a full statement to the Georgia athletic board and also turned over to the board his notes on the telephone conversation he allegedly had overheard.

Will Cooperate
Burnett said he would cooperate with any authorities investigating the matter.

"The truth will eventually be told in full," he added.

He said he had submitted to a lie detector test at the request of the Georgia athletic board and that the result of the test showed that he "was telling the truth in all particulars."

Both Butts and Bryant have denied they were involved in the alleged fix.

Statement

In a statement Monday, Burnett said: "I was not motivated by anything but an impulsive desire that the truth be known."

"I recalled the facts to my friend Bob Edwards. He in turn acted as a friend of the Georgia coach in taking it to the coach (Johnny Griffith)."

Student Support

Eddie Leitman, 21, of Birmingham, vice president of the Alabama Student Government Association and president of the Student Legislature, said the group probably would pass a resolution in support of Bryant at its meeting Tuesday night.

"Besides," Jordan said pointing to a foot-high trophy, which is required to request a retraction in order to enable him to seek to recover punitive damages.

The current issue of the Post contains an article entitled "The Story of a College Football Fix."

Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook began an investigation Monday. He said he may interview members of the Alabama team and has not decided whether he would interview members of the Georgia team.

Long Tenure

Karl B. Michael, former AAU and NCAA diving champion, has coached Dartmouth's swimmers since 1939.

Cook said Butts and Bryant both will be questioned.

INFORMANT . . . George Burnett

Alabama's Jordan Denies Dirty Play

... REJECTS FIX CHARGE ALSO

Tuscaloosa, Ala. (AP)—There is no such thing as intentional brutality on the University of Alabama football team, one of the squad's stars said Monday.

Lee Roy Jordan, the Tide's All-America center and linebacker, said, "The man who costs us a personal foul penalty is benched and doesn't play any more that day."

Jordan made the statement during an interview which sought the team's reaction to an article appearing in the Saturday Evening Post which charges his coach Paul Bryant with attempting to fix last season's Georgia-Alabama football game.

Charged Denied

Bryant and Wallace Butts, former University of Georgia coach and athletic director who also was named in the article, have denied the charges.

The brutality question first arose when an article appeared in the Post in October which said Bryant encouraged brutality among his players.

Bryant has filed suit against the Post and Furman Bisher, sports editor of the Atlanta Journal, the author, for $500,000 in connection with an earlier Post story.

Bryant told a statewide television audience Sunday in referring to the current controversy that, "This article is another malicious attempt to destroy me and my reputation for honesty and integrity in order to affect the presentation of my case in the pending suit."

Defends Bryant

Jordan, who said he could speak for the whole team, defended Bryant against the current charges and the allegation of brutality.

"Sure," he said, "The coach drives us hard. He tells us to play hard, to play to win. But he tells us to do it right and do it cleanly."

"From my experience with coach Bryant, there can be no truth to either charge," Jordan declared.

"Georgia hit hard, and so did we. But nobody played dirty intentionally. It was the same in every game we played."

Student Support

Eddie Leitman, 21, of Birmingham, vice president of the Alabama Student Government Association and president of the Student Legislature, said the group probably would pass a resolution in support of Bryant at its meeting Tuesday night.

"Besides," Jordan said pointing to a foot-high trophy,

"do you think a team that plays dirty, intentionally or otherwise, would win that?"

The trophy was the Naylor Stone Memorial Award for sportsmanship. All teams which play at Birmingham's Legion Field, site of the 1962 Georgia-Alabama game, are eligible for it.

Scandal Story Prompted By 'Desire For Truth'

Atlanta (AP)—An Atlanta insurance salesman said Monday that "an impulsive desire that the truth be known" led him to provide information for the Saturday Evening Post story which says that last fall's Georgia-Alabama football game was rigged.

The salesman, George Burnett, said in the Saturday Evening Post that he overheard a telephone conversation between athletic director Wally Butts of Georgia and Alabama's football coach Paul (Bear) Bryant. Burnett said Butts gave information on Georgia plays. Alabama won the game, 35-0.

Both Butts and Bryant have denied they were involved in the alleged fix.

In a statement Monday, Burnett said: "I was not motivated by anything but an impulsive desire that the truth be known."

"I recalled the facts to my friend Bob Edwards. He in turn acted as a friend of the Georgia coach in taking it to the coach (Johnny Griffith)."

Post Asked To Retract Article On Grid Fix

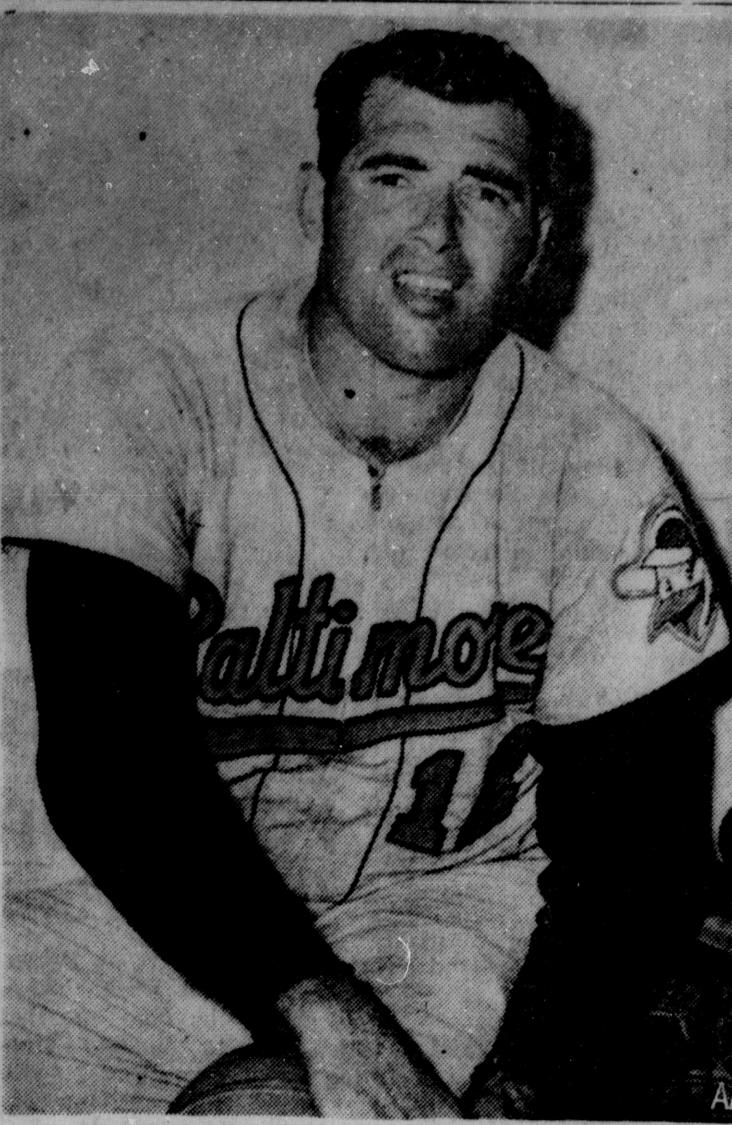

Atlanta (AP)—The Saturday Evening Post was asked Monday to retract an article accusing former Georgia Athletic Director Wally Butts and Alabama Coach Paul Bryant of collusion to fix the Alabama-Georgia football game last fall.

The request was in the form of a telegram to Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa., from Butts' attorney, William Schroder.

Both Butts and Bryant have denied the charges.

Cook said Butts and Bryant both will be questioned.

Detroit Backed In Olympics Bid

New York (P)—The Board of Directors of the U.S. Olympic Committee reconfirmed Monday night its choice of Detroit as the U.S. city which should bid for the 1968 Olympic Games.

The vote was 32 for Detroit, 4 for Los Angeles, 2 for Portland, Ore., and 1 each for San Francisco and Philadelphia.

The decision was made after an all-day session at Olympic House where the board reviewed presentations from 5 cities—San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Detroit.

Protest Made

Detroit was picked as the single U.S. bidder for the games at a meeting last October in Chicago, but a review was ordered by the 11-member U.S. Olympic Executive Committee after a protest by Los Angeles.

It was contended that the board had not heard full presentations from the cities seeking the games.

The governor of Michigan, George Romney, and the Detroit mayor, Jerome P. Cavanaugh, headed a 19-man delegation of industrial and civic leaders who presented their case to the 41-member board.

"If we get the games, you will see the greatest Olympic ever held," Romney said. He sharply criticized opposition to Detroit's original selection, calling it "an unsportsmanlike attack."

Guessing Game

Asked to whom he referred, the Michigan governor said, "that is obvious—you can guess."

He obviously referred to Los Angeles, which had put up a strong fight to get U.S. designation as a bidder for the games.

"We plan to hold the games in a modern 1968 stadium and not in a stadium used in 1932," Romney said.

This was a biting reference also to Los Angeles, which sought to hold the games in the Coliseum, where the 1932 sports carnival was last staged in the United States.

Even with the selection of Detroit as the U.S. candidate,

Sargent Meets Picking Trouble In Final Tilts

Prep Sports Writer Conde Sargent met his picking match in the finals of the State High School Basketball Tournament.

After breezing through the first two days, predicting 23 out of 24 games correctly, Sargent got only one champion home—Utica—in calling the title games.

That still left his tourney record at 24 right, 4 wrong for a sizzling .857 percentage.

Crowds May Force 2 Sites For A, B Finals

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

The Class A and B championship games of the State High School Basketball championships may be held simultaneously on different courts next year.

This opinion was voiced Monday by C. C. (Tommy) Thompson, secretary of the Nebraska Schools Activities Association which sponsors the prep meet.

Thompson said there was talk of switching, at the last minute, the two Saturday games to separate sites because of an anticipated sell-out. But many tickets already had been sold, offering the double-header.

"It wouldn't have been fair to those people," he said.

His comment came after Falls City fans expressed unhappiness at the crowded Nebraska Coliseum for Saturday's Class B championship game.

"There's no new problem that we haven't had for the last 20 years," said Thompson. Thompson said switching the A and B games to separate sites—with the B games probably going to Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium—was one plan that had been suggested.

"We will attempt to do something," he said.

Thompson pointed out that it may also be possible to return to a Saturday finals arrangement of B-C in the daytime and A-D at night.

Another plan, according to Thompson, is to switch the format of the semifinals action on Friday at the Coliseum, having a Class A game in the afternoon and the other at night instead of having both A games Friday night.

Thompson expressed regret that Falls City fans were disgruntled.

The Friday crowd at the Coliseum was the heaviest of the tournament, drawing an estimated 11,000 fans. On Saturday for the B and A championship games, observers felt the crowd was around 10,500.

"We're just as unhappy as you are," Thompson said he told complaining fans, many from Falls City.

The NSAA official said his board of control would consider changes for next year.

Thompson pointed out that the group's next meeting will be during the state track meet in May.

The NSAA killed a move last December to shift a portion of the tourney to Omaha. No renewed efforts have been reported from Omaha which boasted of the Class A champion (Omaha Tech) and runner-up (Creighton Prep).

He clarified one report that the Coliseum ticket gates were not open after 2:30 p.m. for the Saturday evening session.

"At 6:20 p.m. we started selling again for the night session. There were an additional 1,500 sold then. We reopened later and let in 50 or 60 more people who were waiting outside."

"Everyone who had the patience to wait saw the games," Thompson thought, adding that he probably wouldn't have had enough patience himself.

The 6 sessions on the NU court drew an estimated 53,500 fans—an improvement on last year.

The Class C and D finals Saturday afternoon had a crowd of 8,000, a big boost. Thompson said that gate probably was the best ever for the afternoon session.

Class B and D first round and semifinals attendance was down from last year however so the 1963 receipts may not match the 1962 total of $59,000.

Sorensen said the board of control could by itself split the tourney, but prefers to have a majority expression from the assembly and that will be sought at the next assembly meeting in December.

Sorensen said there is no hard core of opposition to a tourney split and noted that Omaha, within a few years will have nearly half of the state's Class A schools under the present classification.

Omaha now has 10 of the 32 big schools.

Omaha To Make Bid For Meet

Omaha (R) — Omaha is going to make a big pitch to get a part of the State Basketball Tournament shifted to the state's largest city by 1965.

What Omaha wants is Class A and one other class on alternating years. All classes now compete at Lincoln.

Howard Sorensen, principal of Benson High School and a member of the Nebraska High School Activities Board of Control, noted that many fans were turned away for the Class A and B finals at the University of Nebraska Coliseum last Saturday night.

With the coliseum inadequate in seating capacity, the Omaha city auditorium should be considered, Sorensen said. The coliseum has an 8,500 seating capacity with the use of bleachers, Omaha auditorium manager Charles Manca said, while the Omaha Auditorium has 11,400 individual seats and can handle 12,000 if bleachers are used.

At the last NSAA delegate assembly meeting an Omaha bid for part of the tourney fell short by 6 votes with some members not voting.

Sorensen said the board of control could by itself split the tourney, but prefers to have a majority expression from the assembly and that will be sought at the next assembly meeting in December.

Providence Picked Over Miami, Fla.

IN NIT QUARTER-FINALS

New York (R) — Providence, winner of the 1961 National Invitation Basketball Tournament over St. Louis, makes its first appearance in the 26th annual Madison Square Garden extravaganza Tuesday night a slight favorite to eliminate Miami of Florida. St. Louis plays Marquette in the first games to conclude the quarter-final round.

Providence and Marquette, two of the 4 seeded teams in the tourney which began with 12 schools last Thursday, are the last clubs to see action. They drew first round byes. Marquette, seeded 3rd, takes on St. Louis at 7:30 p.m., followed by the Proficiency-Miami tilt. Providence is seeded second.

Marquette, coached by Ed Hickey, is making its second NIT appearance. But Hickey is no stranger, having coached Creighton and St. Louis in the NIT. He sent 7 St. Louis teams to the NIT before moving to Marquette, and won the Garden tourney in 1948.

Two weeks ago Marquette suffered a damaging blow when 6-foot-7 center Dave Erickson broke a bone in his hand against Creighton. But it's in a cast and Erickson is expected to play. He is essentially valuable as a rebounder. Ron Glaser is the leader Marquette scorer with a 19.4 average.

Marquette and St. Louis divided home and home engagements during the regular season, both winning by 11 points. Marquette is favored, as St. Louis lost its last 3 games before coming here and hasn't been sharp lately. The Billikens beat LaSalle in a first round game 62-61.

The semifinals will be played Thursday, and it could match the 1961 finalists if Providence takes Miami and St. Louis gets past Marquette since they're in the lower half of the draw. The final will be Saturday.

In the other Thursday game, giant-killer Villanova tackles Canisius. Villanova knocked off top-seeded and nationally ranked Wichita Saturday 54-53.

This is the 5th straight NIT appearance for Providence.

Forces Split Over Juan Peron Issue

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP) — The armed forces split openly Monday on the question of whether followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron should be permitted a formal role in campaigning for the June 23 national election.

The army and air force backed President Jose Maria Guido in his support of civilian leaders who contend Peronist participation is necessary to insure holding of the election.

They issued a surprise memorandum to all units saying the (Peron) regime overruled Popular Union Front would not mean a return "of the (Peron regime overthrown by the liberation revolution" of 1955. This followed a two-hour discussion of the situation by army, navy and air force leaders Sunday night.

The memorandum said the army and air force did not consider it necessary to take action, demanded by the navy, to appeal an electoral court's decision that gave legal status to the Peronist

Safety Ahead

Two men prepare to stretch a ladder and boards across ice Monday to help two women and themselves, above, to reach dry ground after flood waters of Cattaraugus creek, pushing chunks of ice, surrounded their houses near Silver Creek, N.Y., a Lake Erie community.

The 4 refused to identify themselves.

An automobile, parked against the basement wall, is nearly covered by ice.

The women and their dog, left, crawl to safety along the boards and ladder.

Placement Exams For Peace Corps Set For 16 Towns

Placement tests for Peace Corps volunteers will be given at 16 Nebraska locations Saturday.

Two types of tests will be given; one is for applicants who would like to teach at high school or college level. A bachelor's degree is usually required for the test, although the applicant need not hold a teacher's certificate.

The second type to be given is the general examination which covers all other Peace Corps assignments.

In Beatrice, Broken Bow, Columbus, Falls City, Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, Lincoln, McCook, Norfolk, North Platte, Scottsbluff and Valentine, tests will be taken at the main post office in each community.

In Alliance, applicants will take the test in the U.S. Post Office Bldg., and in Omaha the test will be given at the Federal Bldg.

All tests will begin at 8:30 a.m.

TV Shows Rejected

Auckland, New Zealand (AP)—About 80% of American television programs offered to the New Zealand Broadcasting Corp. are rejected for poor quality, said Minister of Broadcasting Arthur Kinsella. He said this holds true for most foreign television.

Press Officer Lincoln White said Merchant is expected to visit Paris, The Hague, Athens and Ankara on his next trip to Europe.

Negotiations begin next Monday on a two-year contract that will be retroactive to last Feb. 1.

The guild promised earlier to defer any boost in minimum wages this year as a means of encouraging domestic production of films. But a spokesman said members of the guild want to establish a principle that pay television is a separate operation.

"DAYS OF WINE AND ROSES"

Canadian U.N. Troops Can't 'Caper'

Camp Rafah, Egypt (AP) — The Canadian army wants no capers cut here by its soldiers lent to the United Nations to enforce the Palestine armistice.

"As long as you are here, women are strictly taboo," Col. Donald H. Rochester, 44, told new arrivals to the 950-man Canadian contingent of the U.N. force. "Don't touch them; don't even look at them."

Another don't: politics. Complex Situation

"The situation is very complex, and we are not here to solve it," the colonel from Toronto told his men. "We are here to see the armistice is obeyed."

The ban on talking about Mid-East affairs applies even to private conversations because "you might be overheard."

The Canadians are part of an international police force set up by the U.N. to keep Israel and Egypt from scrapping. The period of duty is one year.

Do Something

"The key to get out and do something," the colonel told his men. "Do more than you would at home. It will be pretty dull if you don't."

Having ruled out women and political discussion as time passers, he suggested activities ranging from photography and archery to boxing and bingo.

The colonel himself has just applied for an extension to his one year tour of duty.

He said in an interview that "this force is a pattern for the future. I am certain that the United Nations will have to do this kind of job many times in the future. But no procedures have been set up and no records kept."

"Much could be done to set up a flexible system which could be used in various circumstances. I feel that I can help along this line if I am here longer."

Stock Market Dips Again

New York (P)—The stock market went through another one of its slow and moderate declines Monday.

The list seemed to lack incentive, despite another rise in weekly steel production and news that manufacturing employment in mid-February ended a 7-month decline.

Brokers said part of the listlessness in Wall Street was attributable to the disappointment among New York that the city's newspaper strike had still not been settled, despite high hopes for the weekend.

Investors' confidence will still go without their usual source of financial news and price quotations.

Motors, autos, rails, electric chemicals, electronic radios, building materials and aerospace issues were mixed.

The list had a slight gain at the start but failed to hold it and settled lower, without any great selling pressure.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined .77 to 724.26.

Volume fell off to 3.26 million shares from 3.42 million on Friday and was the lowest in a week.

On 1,294 issues traded, 689 declined and 346 advanced. New highs for 1962-1963 totalled 24 and new lows, 5.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell off to 250.0 with industrials off 1.5, rails off .7 and utilities off .1.

Comic Invites Probe

... TO UP RATING

Washington (UPI) — Comedian Johnny Carson, who once said entertainers "live and die" by broadcast ratings, invited congressional investigators Monday to shift their hearings to his late-night television show.

"We can use the rating," said Carson, host of NBC's "Tonight" show.

Carson's performance before the House Commerce Investigating Subcommittee was otherwise serious. Speaking calmly and in a low voice, he said many entertainers were disturbed because audience ratings had very little to do with the quality of shows.

Defeating

Show business people, Carson said, find it "defeating" to have to base a career on impersonal numbers that sometimes contradict their own feelings about their performances.

"If you have a high rating they're wonderful," he said, "but if it's low, they're awful."

The young comedian said it's difficult to know what to do next when a show gets a low rating, especially when its quality is high. Many fold.

Invited

The subcommittee invited Carson to testify after he made his "live and die" remark on the Feb. 11 "Tonight" show. The congressmen, studying the accuracy and influence of broadcast rating services, have asked representatives of the biggest one, A. C. Nielsen Co., to appear sometime this week.

Carson emphasized repeatedly he was not familiar with how the ratings work and therefore could not comment on their accuracy.

But he quoted a remark the late radio comedian, Fred Allen, once made about broadcast ratings.

"A few years ago we had a rating of minus two," he quoted Allen as saying. "That means that no one was listening to us and two people who weren't went around knocking us."

Boosted Thor Shot Success

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (UPI) — The Air Force scored its first success Monday with a Thor booster rocket with solid fuel boosters strapped on.

The souped-up system, called TAT, worked successfully as the first stage of a Thor-Agena satellite rocket combination.

Purpose of the satellite, and whether it actually achieved orbit, was not announced.

This was the second shot for TAT, which means Thrust Augmented Thor. The first time, the vehicle went off course and was destroyed.

The system employs 3 Thiokol solid fueled rockets strapped to the liquid fueled Thor, increasing its thrust from 170,000 pounds to 300,000 pounds, and enabling it to lift heavier loads.

Superior Service Station Owner's Killer Given Life

Mankato, Kan. (UPI) — Wilbur Edward Allen was sentenced Monday to life imprisonment for the murder of an 80-year-old man.

Allen pleaded guilty to a charge of shooting John Maxwell in a robbery at Maxwell's country service station between Webber, Kan., and Superior, Neb., Aug. 7, 1962.

Arrested Dec. 10, Allen cleared another man who was being held for investigation in the case.

Allen will be taken to the state prison at Lansing Tuesday.

Adenauer's Party Sets Pipe Embargo

Bonn, Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party imposed Monday night an embargo on any further export of strategic pipe to the Soviet Union.

The party achieved its unexpected victory by leaving the parliament chamber before the vote was taken. The opposition voted 244 to 1 against immediate application of the embargo but this did not count because the necessary quorum of 250 was lacking. That is half the membership.

The government had imposed the embargo by executive order, effective at midnight Monday night. Only by overriding the order before midnight could the parliamentary opposition stop it. West German businessmen had a deal to send 163,000 tons of pipe to the Soviet Union in the next 12 months, enough to lay an estimated 370 to 435 miles of oil or natural gas line. The United States had urged all its allies to stop such shipments on the ground the pipe helped build up Soviet military strength. West Germany was the main supplier.

The Free Democrats, smaller party in the coalition government, and the Opposition Socialists fought immediate embargo on the ground it would mean violating contracts. They were for putting the embargo into effect only after these contracts have been fulfilled.

Adenauer's party maintained that the solidarity of the West had to be maintained. "I want to do something about developing a positive and defined program for more business and more jobs," he said.

"I believe one of our first goals should be to keep more young people in Lincoln, and design attractions — home environment, church facilities, recreational opportunities, and job and business expansions — that would bring other younger men and women to Lincoln."

He said he believed the council "has filtered away too many of its responsibilities."

Ex-Korean President Says People Betrayed

Seoul, Korea (UPI) — Former President Posun Yun Monday accused junta strongman Gen. Park Chung Hee of betraying Korea and called on all South Koreans to follow him into the streets to protest any extension of military rule if necessary.

Yun spoke at a news conference he called in defiance of the junta's new ban on political freedom, including prohibition of public demonstrations and statements against Park's proposal to extend military rule for another 4 years. Yun risked a possible court martial and 5 years in prison in defying the ban.

Park, chairman of the junta, announced Saturday the restoration of the ban on all political activities and said he would hold a referendum to seek approval of the extension of military rule. His moves followed the uncovering of an alleged plot to overthrow the junta.

Yun told the news conference that Park had betrayed the nation by proposing that military rule to be extended. He noted that Park pledged only 3 weeks ago to turn over power to a civilian government in August.

In other action, the council by a 4-2 vote approved the application of Bus Whitehead to construct a canopy for a service station at 600 S. 10th with a waiver of city code front yard requirements.

Home Burglar Takes Cans, Meat, $25 Cash

Police Monday were investigating a burglary at the home of George Huck, 1219 New Hampshire.

Reports said the intruder entered the Huck residence and took several cans of food, some meat and about $25 in cash.

Someone also broke into the home of Jacob Neiderhaus, 918 Charleston, but nothing was reported stolen.

The Patrol said the couple left the scene when the accident happened. Their names were not learned.

The State Department of Roads collected the household goods and furniture spread over the highway and locked them up until they could be claimed.

Lifeguards Busy

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil (UPI) — Lifeguards pulled 146 swimmers from the sea as thousands jammed Rio's beaches in search of relief from a blistering sun which sent temperatures past 100 degrees. No one drowned.

Congress Asked To Control Meat Imports

Nebraska's Legislature disposed of a suggested investigation into livestock and meat prices Monday by substituting for it a resolution inviting congress to do something about red meat imports.

The resolution received 35-0 approval.

Giving rise originally to concern was a request from State Agriculture Director Pearce Flinigan for a full dress legislative investigation of wheat he said at the time was a plunge in fat cattle prices without an apparent corresponding drop in meat prices at retail.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff advised the body Monday that an examination of state law showed the State Agriculture Department had the authority and responsibility to undertake such investigations on its own. He suggested that the Agriculture Department had come to the Legislature "to authorize something it already was authorized to do."

"I don't like to be used," he declared.

The recommendation that the investigation not be undertaken came from the Agriculture Committee to which the Flinigan request was referred. Among other things, the committee said the problem is a national rather than state-level problem.

The committee instead introduced the resolution calling attention to increasing meat imports, asking the federal government to do something about it under authority it already possesses, and inviting the congress "to consider the wisdom of flexible quotas of imports to balance the consumptive need in relation to United States domestic production."

As reported out by committee, the resolution referred only to veal and beef, but an amendment by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth broadened the resolution to cover pork and mutton as well.

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora said the lamb feeding industry in Nebraska "has been in trouble for a number of years" because of mutton imports, currently representing nearly 18% of mutton consumption.

As to beef, the resolution noted that beef and veal imports last year amounted to 9% of domestic production.

The lonely north coast of California is laced with rivers. They come wandering through the hills, forested with giant redwoods, to find a sand beach outlet on the Pacific.

In the Spring, the salmon swarm into the inlets, climbing in splashing silver to spawn and die. The house was bought in 1949 by Don Dennen, a fourth generation descendant of early day settlers.

The apple warehouse was turned into a recreation room. The beams came out of an abandoned water tower in nearby Mendocino. The floor came from an old store at Fort Bragg.

It has fine State of Maine feeling about it. The Blue Pacific splashes in white foam at the foot of cliffs 300 feet high.

One of the loveliest, hidden resorts is Heritage House at Little River.

I came here first 10 years ago. It was much more remote. For in the past few years, artists discovered low rents and great beauty in the gingerbread crumpling mansions built by the lumber barons a century ago.

I found Don Dennen in the Fort Bragg hospital. He is a victim of the increasing traffic. A head-on collision smashed him badly—more people and more cars than any State in the Union and death rides on the freeway.

Even so, there is great sunny peace in this long stretch of rocky coastline.

Dennen made quite a research into history for Heritage House.

He found one of the tenants had added a flurry of fame.

"A ship went down off Point Arena a few years ago," said Dennen, "and there were some divers around trying to raise it."

"One of them came up here and asked if he could take a look around."

"He came into the old house and said, 'Yes, this is the place all right.'

"He said, 'George used to sit there.' He pointed to a place in the dining room."

"He said, 'there was a big table where they laid the money and a couple of pistols. George used to pass out the money.'

It shows you how this country bemuses you.

would boat the liquor into the cove and hoist it up on a cable. Then "George" would make the payoff.

In November, 1954, the diver was looking at a newspaper. It told how two FBI agents were killed in a gun battle at Barrington near Chicago. But in dying they shot George "Baby-Face" Nelson. He died 4 hours later in the arms of his gun moll.

"It was George," said the diver.

Dennen told me the story 10 years ago. When I wrote it, I said it was "Pretty Boy" Floyd. I didn't take notes, just went by memory.

It shows you how this country bemuses you.

The diver had been in the rum-running business. They further recommend that all parties concerned cease and desist in any further such advertising from the date of the adoption of this resolution." The Craft amendment lost 6-21.

As originally drawn, Resolution No. 18 merely rapped advertising designed to influence legislation. A committee amendment extended it to cover advertising designed to influence elections.

Stops Attacks in Minutes . . . Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurring pain and asthma.

This formula is so effective that it is the physician's leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold without prescription in most states.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte Monday proposed removal of a sentence in the resolution which said: "We
